Contributions Get Closer Scrutiny

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer
Form 1040 for 1965 calls for a clear-cut distinction in your contributions between cash gifts and those other than cash. For this purpose checks and money orders are treated as cash.

Purpose of the change is to exercise greater control over claimed contributions of used clothing, furniture, appliances to welfare organizations, even over the donation of works of art, property and securities to libraries, museums and churches. Whenever anything other than cash is contributed, a statement must be attached to the return explaining how the value of the contributed article was arrived at, the description and date made.

Most common charitable contributions are those to your church, Community Chest, Red Cross or your college. Also properly deductible are contributions made to a nonprofit hospital, Salvation Army, Camp Fire Girls, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, health funds, societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals.

Your contributions are generally limited to a maximum of 20 per cent of your adjusted gross income. However, an additional 10 per cent of income is allowed if the contributions were in general to churches, tax-exempt educational institutions and hospitals, for certain medical research organizations, and governmental agencies using the gifts for public purposes.

Here is a really controversial hand from the International team trials. Every West player opened with one club. North invariably overcalled with one heart; South tried one spade, West rebid two clubs. North raised to two spades and whether or not East bid three diamonds, South would close the bidding at four spades.

West always started the defense with three rounds of clubs. East ruffed the third club, whereupon South would overruff and take stock of the situation.

He would have to lose the ace of spades in any event and would need to be able to discard two diamonds on dummy's hearts.

The simple play would be to take a heart finesse. This play would succeed if West had started with either three hearts or four hearts to the king.

The complicated play would be to try to ruff out the king of hearts by playing the ace of hearts. This play would succeed if either opponent had started with three hearts to the king.

Mathematically the plays are equal. In practice the simple play worked. The complicated play failed when it turned out that West had those four hearts headed by the king.

To show how even the play was, six pairs of the nine did reach four spades and three made the hand by the simple play while three went down with the complicated play.

The other three stopped at three spades and all made exactly three. There was a good reason for this. Any declarer who lost the heart finesse would go down at three. The play of

What do you do?
A—Bid six diamonds. Your partner is obviously showing the ace of spades as a belated slam suggestion. Do not try to get to seven because if your partner held two aces and the king of clubs he would almost surely have made a stronger bid than two no-trump previously.

Instead of responding one diamond, your partner answers one heart to your opening club. What do you do in this case?

Some Volkswagen owners look down on other Volkswagen owners.

When you graduate from a Volkswagen Sedan to a Volkswagen Station Wagon, you really step up in the world.

The Station Wagon stands a good foot taller than other cars. And holds more than the biggest conventional wagon you can find.

But the VW Wagon isn't only tall. It's also short.

We saved 4 feet of hood in front by putting the engine in back.

Big as it is inside, it's only 8 inches longer than the Volkswagen Sedan. So people who move up to the high-slung model still feel very much at home.

They park in the same little spots.

They still don't worry about freezing or boiling; the engine is air-cooled.

They still go a long way on a gallon of gas (about 23 miles) and a very long way on a set of tires (about 30,000 miles).

And it just tickles them to drive one Volkswagen and look down on a million others.

Where firemen believe it all started

It was a dirty fight and one man was missing. He was shot more than once and, of course, presumed dead. But was he? Tom Tiede reports from Viet Nam.

'Sergeant Brown Is Dead, Sir'

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

COURTENAY, Viet Nam — (NEA) — Bravo Company had to fall back.

They had stumbled into an ambush of Viet Cong who were fortified inside camouflaged rows of freshly dug trenches. Over the ditches, suicide snipers had been lashed to observation trees to direct knee-high fire on the approaching Yanks.

The boys from B made several belly crawling assaults, under iron spot, toward an enemy they could not see and positions they could not locate.

Grenades popped like thunder. Automatic weapons fouled the air.

But it was no use. Wet with rain and sweat, dirty with mud and blood, Bravo Company broke contact, regrouped and took combat census.

"Anybody missing?" a lieutenant whispered.

"Sergeant Brown," somebody answered.

"Where is he?"

"Sergeant Brown is dead, sir."

The group fell silent. Jim Brown, dead. Some shook their heads in anger. Others dead themselves and swallowed.

Then, as the rain began to fall faster, the aching troops scooped away wet leaves and sat on damp ground. Ammunition was counted. C ration tins sprung open. Medics with ashens faces wandered from man to man.

It had been a hell of a dirty go. They had battled blind, outnumbered and unprotected. Every officer in the unit had been wounded and scores of their men with them. Only one failed to escape, however. The sergeant.

Jim Brown of Fayetteville, N.C., a 30-year-old husband.

"Dammit!" a man muttered.

"He musta been hit more than once," somebody guessed.

"I saw grenades falling all around him."

"He took a lot of shrapnel."

"Who saw him last?"

"I seen him go back because he couldn't find a buddy."

"Dammit."

The sergeant had, indeed, gone back for a friend, but not before being thrice torn open by the enemy arsenal.

His squad had crawled within 50 yards of the unseen trenches before an antitank shell blasted the first rip in his body. It was a hollow thump of an explosion that left Brown reeling with vertigo.

He kept moving, however, and 25 yards later took a second set of fragments, this time from a grenade. Again he shook it off and moved closer. Again he was opened up by the shattering of a hand-thrown bomb.

Finally, he was ordered back. But then a man in his squad couldn't be found. Sgt. Jim Brown crawled into hell once more.

The rain had continued throughout the night and those of Bravo Company who slept at all, slept wet. And nervous. Artillery zeroed in on the VC trenches after dark and shelled them throughout the night. At dawn, Air Force jets flew in to drop their bombs.

Sgt. Brown was in the target area, of course. The men wondered if they would ever find his body.

By mid-morning all combat had ceased and the jungle was quiet. The sun rose and the thickest steamed. Silently, the boys from B collected their gear for an air evacuation.

Suddenly, one of them heard a noise. He turned his head and blinked his eyes. A few yards away a man approached awkwardly, his eyes red, his face white, his clothes caked with stains of blood.

"Hey, Glis," the man cried.

Dazed, frightened, sick with confusion, he was near collapse.

But Sgt. Jim Brown was by no means dead.

Virden Mayor To Lead 4-County Poverty Fight

The group voted to prepare and submit an application for a charter as a non-profit corporation. Details of obtaining a program development grant were discussed and a constitution and bylaws were developed.

Seek Immediate Action Also discussed at the meeting was the possibility of immediately applying for such programs as Head Start, pre-school classes for underprivileged children and Neighborhood Youth Corps, which offers training, work experience and counseling to disadvantaged youth between the ages of 16-21.

Other members of the committee present were Lois Webb, Steve Fortschneider and Leon Dixon of Calhoun County; Margaret Lakin, Charles K. Barnett and Guy Pettit of Greene County; Ruth M. Lofty Landmarks Shrink As Bulldozers Take Toll

By Virgil Reither
BEARDSTOWN — Not the least of the implements contributing to an ever changing landscape is the bulldozer, and it has been making its impression in the Beardstown area in a number of ways including the reduction of hills to flatlands.

For nearly a century Beardstown youngsters learned about Kuhlmann Hill in their local geography and generations of them have hiked to this eminence on picnics and camping trips.

But Kuhlmann Hill is being "whittled away" and may someday disappear. Kuhlmann Hill, so called because it is on the Kuhlmann farm, just a half mile east of the brick school on the Beardstown Chandlerville blacktop, can't resist the present bulldozing onslaught forever, although its owner Henry Kuhlmann says there still is a long way to go.

During the past summer many hundreds of loads of dirt were hauled away for use on a levee construction job, and it appears at least to the uninitiated, that the hill is at least half gone.

Smaller Hills Vanish Similar actions, though on a smaller scale, can be noticed on a car trip through this neighborhood. At the Norman Davidmeyer farm near the Country Club another well known "hill," has been nearly reduced, the dirt going for fill of one kind and another, and the ultimate purpose being the emerging of a flat area for farming.

Bulldozers have gnawed away at hillsides near the Baka farm and in a number of places where builders have already erected or are planning to erect homes — hundreds of loads of dirt were skimmed off the eminence at Bluff Springs where Glenn Hertzberger now has a new home abiding.

Situation Reversed The other side of the coin is in evidence in Schuyler county where strip mining operations have produced hills and lakes where flatlands previously had flourished as farms and pastures.

Here, in fact, is the real and

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED FOR WEEK

Richard Kesterson of Bluffs and Lois Kathryn Mouser of Murraysville; Joe Robert McGlasson of Route 3, and Barbara Jean Gilliland of Route 1, Chapin; Kenneth Ray Lomelino of Route 2, Winchester and Yvonne Le McDannold of 317 Madison; Harry James Mason of Route 2, Murraysville, and Hattie P. Abell of 1400 W. Lafayette; Wesley G. Crews of Beardstown and Zelda Mae Reining of Granite City; Gary B. Thomson of Modesto and Judith A. Tribble of 122 W. Vandalia; Frank D. Freeman of 530 N. Sandy and Carrie Mae Jackson of 833 East Independence; Robert M. Velkavrh and Linda Ellen Welch, both of Springfield.

ROODHOUSE C OF C CHANGE IN PROGRAM ROODHOUSE — Due to unforeseen circumstances, the Chamber of Commerce program has been changed. Jim Galtens from the General Telephone offices in Jacksonville will bring with him a representative of the company who will speak and answer questions concerning the upcoming dial conversion which this area will undergo this month.

David Hagen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hagen will present a program of organ music. The dinner and program will be held Tuesday, Jan. 18 at the Methodist church.

startling evidence of the power and capacity of the giant earth movers that bite rock and coal and slate and dirt from the ground many tons at a time in a single powerful sweep.

There are larger machines than those used at the Key Mine in the Pleasant View area.

In fact the big machines are being built bigger and better all the time.

A coal stripping shovel utilized at Lenzburg, Ill. is said to be as high as a 20-story building. Run by one man it utilizes enough electric current to supply a city of 20,000 and its capacious jaws bite out 85 cubic yards of dirt and rock at a time — this is enough to fill two railroad cars. So silent it is called "the ghost," it creeps forward on its own crawlers.

Support Plan
For Additional Flood Control

BEARDSTOWN — Apparent complete endorsement of a plan to improve the flood protection facilities of the Hager Slough special drainage and levee district was evidenced at a public hearing conducted in the city hall Tuesday afternoon by the Corps of Engineers.

Col. John C. Mattina of the Engineers office in Chicago conducted the hearing to determine whether there was any opposition to the plan to furnish additional protection for approximately 8,000 acres of farm land involved.

All speakers endorsed the idea and a statement from Congressman Paul Findley was read at the beginning of the proceedings.

The city was represented by Alderman Gilbert Hegener in the absence of Mayor Tillitt and City Attorney Milton McClure questioned those desiring to make statements.

A study will determine whether the costs of the improvement will result in benefits that will justify the expenditure.

Witnesses included Arthur Glick of the board of supervisors, Robert Rankin of the CIPS company here, William Richter, a commissioner of the Hager Slough district and C. C. Taylor, a commissioner of the Clear Lake special district which adjoins the Hager Slough district.

About 60 persons attended the hearing.

Elliott State Bank

New President And Directors

F. Osborne Elliott

James C. Coultas

Dr. Reginald M. Norris

James R. Duerwer

F. Osborne Elliott was elected Chairman of the Board and James C. Coultas, President of Elliott State Bank at the Board of Directors meeting Saturday, January 15. James R. Duerwer was promoted to Senior Vice President and Trust Officer and Dr. Reginald M. Norris was elected a new director of the bank.

At the annual meeting of stockholders which preceded the directors' meeting, Mr. Elliott reported the bank's total assets on December 31, 1965, were $32,126,662, highest in the bank's history. The bank also established new records in deposits, loans, and total capital funds. The bank's total capital accounts were increased to $1,910,000, enabling the bank to increase the maximum legal amount it can lend to a single borrower to $240,000.

Area Growing
Mr. Elliott cited the area's continuing economic growth and the excellent harvest and livestock prices as principle factors in stimulating heavy loan demand. Loans outstanding totaled more than $14 million on December 31, 1965, compared with $11.8 million at the end of 1964. Five years ago the bank reported total loans outstanding at $8 million and total deposits of $18.7 million. Total deposits at the close of 1965 were $29,656,698, an all-time high.

Mr. Elliott said all factors pointed to another good business year in 1966. "As Elliott State Bank begins its 101st year, and Jacksonville its 142nd, we foresee new growth, greater progress, and continuing prosperity for our community and its residents," he said.

Mr. Elliott joined Elliott State Bank in 1950 after a career as an investment banker with Harris Hall & Company, Chicago and four years of wartime naval service. He was elected executive vice president of the bank in 1951, and succeeded to the presidency in 1960. He is a trustee of Illinois College, a member of the Lay Advisory Board of Holy Cross Hospital. He is currently serving also as a member of the Economic Development Committee of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce. He is a great grandson of Edward R. Elliott who was one of the three founders of the bank in 1866.

Sixth President
Mr. Coultas is the sixth president in the 100-year history of the bank. Born in Jacksonville, he graduated from Illinois College in 1943, served in the infantry during World War II, then joined the staff of the bank in 1946. He has worked in virtually every department of the bank, served as vice president, head of the Installment Loan department from 1949 through 1960, and was elected executive vice president in January, 1961. He is a graduate of the Central States School of Banking, University of Wisconsin, and of the Financial Public Relations Association School, Northwestern University.

He is a past officer of First Presbyterian church, past president of Jacksonville Rotary Club, Illinois College Alumni Association, and the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a former director of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Jacksonville Area Industrial Corp. James R. Duerwer is also a graduate of Illinois College and a native of Morgan County. He joined the bank staff in 1945 after World War II duty in the Air Force, and was recalled to active duty during the Korean conflict. He is a graduate of the National Association of Bank Auditors and Comptrollers School, University of Wisconsin. He was elected Vice President and Trust Officer in 1958 and has served as head of the bank's Trust Department since that time. He will continue to be in charge of the bank's Trust Department, in addition to his other duties as senior vice president. He is director of the Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the Elm City Rehabilitation Center, a member of the Council on Human Relations of the City of Jacksonville and of the YMCA Board.

Dr. Reginald M. Norris, the bank's new director, is a graduate of the University of Chicago and Northwestern University School of Medicine. He is a member of the American College of Surgeons and is associated with the Norris Clinic. His brother, the late Dr. F. A. Norris, was a director of Elliott State Bank for many years.

C. A. Hemphill Retires
Chester A. Hemphill, a director of Elliott State Bank since January, 1936, and former Vice President and Trust Officer of the bank announced his retirement from the Board of Directors and was elected to the Senior Advisory Board.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week bulled its way ahead to record highs in turbulent trading as fears of inflation grew stronger.

Trading was astonishingly active on the New York Stock Exchange in spite of the New York transit strike which not only kept many New Yorkers from their jobs but occasioned a cut-down in the usual trading day to four hours from the usual five and one half.

Despite these handicaps, volume for the week swelled to 43,221,289 shares from 38,720,054 the week before and was the heaviest for any week since the one ended Dec. 19 when 47.7 million shares changed hands.

Record highs were made in all the popular averages.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 4.1 to 368.2, making its seventh straight weekly advance.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 1.17 to 987.30.

The market rose on every one of the five trading days except Wednesday when there was some precautionary selling in advance of President Johnson's State of the Union message.

The losses were slight on average. It was the market's first decline of 1966.

Stocks rebounded vigorously on Thursday and Friday. Johnson's speech contained no unpleasant surprises of an outstanding calibre, although he did recommend some temporary increases in auto and telephone excise taxes.

Wall Street saw a green light for further advance in the President's firmness regarding the U.S. military commitment in Viet Nam combined with his determination to work for the goals of the Great Society.

A "guns and butter" speech.

Of 1,566 issues traded this week, 873 rose and 562 fell.

As the trading week began, airlines, rails and electronics showed outstanding group strength.

Aerospace issues made huge strides on Thursday, helped not only by the President's firm military stance but also by reports of future building of a gigantic new airliner.

Judging by the swarm of small transactions which resulted in a 10-minute lag in the ticker tape on Friday, the small investor was back in the market to a great extent.

President Johnson's denunciation of the New York Transit strike settlement as inflationary combined with price boosts in sulphur to create a bullish market atmosphere.

Bond markets turned in a mixed performance during the past week in the wake of President Johnson's State of the Union address.

The key treasury bond market started the week on a strong note. But following the President's address prices weakened.

The main reason, said some market analysts, was the prospect of further heavy financing by the government to pay for the Viet Nam war.

On the New York Stock Exchange bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $55.54 million, compared with $51.86 million last week.

The New York Stock Exchange change volume for the week totaled a par value of $55.54 million, compared with $51.86 million last week.

U O I HEAD (Continued From Page One)

"The Board of Higher Education is now assembling data... with a view to making recommendations concerning the extent to which existing campus should be enlarged, what new programs should be authorized, whether new campuses should be established and where, and whether changes in institutional governance are desirable," Dr. Henry said.

"The rapid growth at the Chicago Circle campus—an additional 3,415 students in the fall of 1965—was made possible by a staggering but successful faculty recruiting effort."

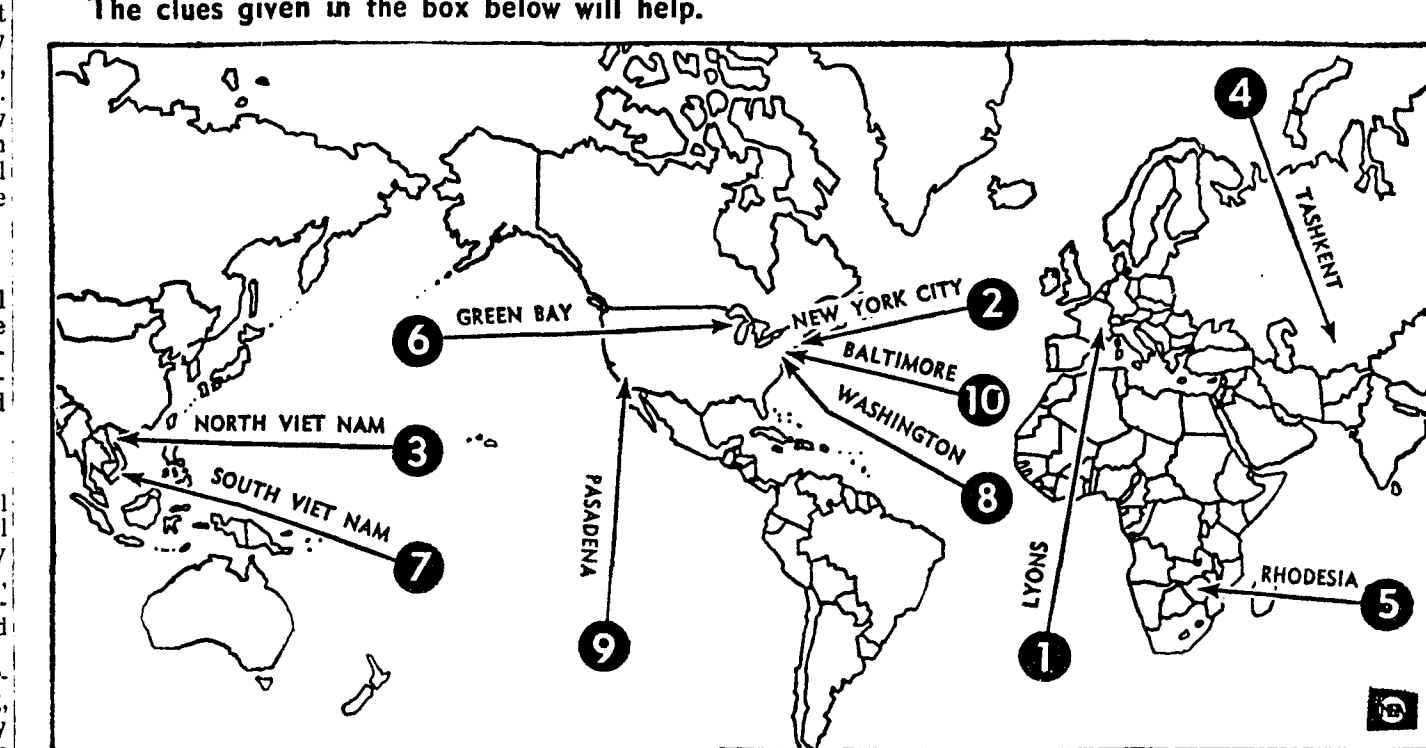

The Chicago Circle campus had a total enrollment of 8,269 students last fall.

President Henry said the expansion of existing U of I campuses should not be arbitrarily limited and that the state should make use of the professional experience and manpower available at the university in planning new campuses as a part of the university.

No one knows what the optimum or maximum size of a campus should be. The estimates of our founders and forebears missed the present realities by thousands. We are no wiser in trying to bound the future."

FULL SCHEDULE FOR HOOP FANS

Basketball fans in Jacksonville and the surrounding area need not wait for something to do in the evenings this week. Hardcourt followers will have a varied and plentiful menu to choose from Monday through Saturday.

The most popular two items on the list for the immediate area will be the PMSC and Winchester Tournaments which will present a total of 19 games over a period of five days.

For those farther out the Macoupin County Tournament at Girard and the Sangamon County Tournament in the Springfield Griffin gymnasium may be the answer. While these prep tournaments are in swing, the annual Morgan County Grade School Tournament will be going on all week, with the exception of Friday night, at the Salem Lutheran gym in Jacksonville.

The popular Winchester Tournament, which is in its 44th consecutive season, is billed as the oldest consecutive prep tourney in the state, and has gone to ten teams this season, with North Greene picked to win but with plenty of competition in store for the Spartans.

North Greene, 9-3 for the year, is expected to get strong opposition from Brown County, Carrollton and Winchester, ranked in order after the Spartans.

A possible four-way fight for the top title looms as a strong possibility in the annual PMSC conference tourney to be held at the ISD gym in Jacksonville.

Ranked in order are Porta, Chandlerville, Triopia and Virginia, but all four are capable of taking all the apples on a given night. Virginia and Triopia have dominated the field in recent years, but a veteran Porta team and a high-scoring, fast-breaking Chandlerville outfit appear fairly good bets to end this.

New Berlin, entering the Sangamon County tourney with the best record in the area, is rated the team to watch there, but will have a rough road as the three rated teams in order after the Pretzels, Riverton, Tri-City and Williamsville, have lost but four games between them this season. Pleasant Plains and Glenwood are possible darkhorses in the field.

Northwestern and Southwestern are the only two area outfits entered in the Macoupin County at Girard, and both are capable of moving into position for a shot at the top finishes.

In addition to these tourney attractions, Jacksonville plays Quincy High and Wood River over the weekend, and the colleges see action as do the three wrestling outfits in the city.

Pete Gallatin missed a free throw with 1:40 to go in the game, and Shaver pulled down the rebound. Pardo fouled the Rose center as the Engineers tried to work the ball in for a shot, and Shaver stepped to the line to connect on both ends of his one-and-one to give Rose a four-point lead with 1:05 on the clock.

The Blueboys brought the ball down court, and forward Charles Martin scored from underneath to close the gap to two points at 67-65.

Following missed shots by both Rose and the Blueboys, Gallatin fouled out by clipping Shaver as Rose tried to hold the ball. With 5 seconds to play, Shaver again converted on both ends of a one-and-one to give the Engineers a 69-65 lead.

IC brought the ball back down the court, and Martin hit a five-foot jumper with less than 15 seconds to play, to bring the Big Blue within two at 69-67.

The Blueboys swarmed all over Rose as they brought the ball in bounds, but were unable to break up a pass as the buzzer sounded.

Illinois College, now 4-6 for the season, hit 23-70 from the field for 32%. Rose scored on 25-81 for 30%.

Rose Poly is now 4-6 for the campaign and 2-2 in conference play. IC holds a 3-1 record in the Prairie College Conference.

The championship game was nip and tuck all the way with Griffin leading at the end of the first and second quarters and Glenwood taking over in the second half to lead most of the way.

The JHS frosh trailed after eight minutes in the consolation but got hot in the second quarter to lead at half and from there had little trouble.

Arizona Clips Southern, 82-62

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Arizona, having its best shooting night of the season, defeated Southern Illinois 82-62 in a non-conference basketball game Saturday.

It was the second straight loss for Southern Illinois, ranked the top small college team by the Associated Press. The Salukis are now 8-3. Arizona is 9-6.

The Wildcats hit on 55 per cent of their shots in the second half and 53 per cent for the game, as all five starters finished in double figures.

Arizona held a 37-32 halftime bulge, but pulled away gradually in the second half on the scoring of forwards Harvey Fox and Mike Aboud.

Fox shared scoring honors with the Salukis' George McNeill, both tallying 20 points. Aboud canned 14 points, 10 in the second half.

Rolla Trips Clan In 1st Half, 86-77

By SANDY PETERSEN

A 60% shooting clip in the first half powered the University of Missouri-Rolla Miners to an 86-77 conquest over the Highlanders of MacMurray, Saturday night, in a ragged contest held on the locals' court.

Rolla sophomore guard Rich Cairns sparked the hot spell with 14 points, as the visitors gained their victory spread with a 41-32 halftime advantage, and played even ball for the final 20 minutes to wrap up the triumph.

The action continually repeated itself during the contest as Rolla gained numerous margins of nine and eleven points and the Clan cut the gap to four or five, only to have a Miner's scoring burst put the count back to the ten point range.

Forced to play an unevenly-paced brand of ball, the unopposed clubs combined for a total of 46 turnovers, with the Miners faulting on 25 occasions, to 21 for the Clan.

Rolla started the circular scoring action, jumping off to 11-4 and 15-7 spreads, before Highlander captain Chuck Hundley put the Clan down by only two at 15-13 with 13:00 remaining in the first half.

Depending on the inside shooting of frosh reservist Al Killoran, the Highlanders stayed within three points throughout the mid-half action.

Killoran, who recorded the Mac high of 17 points for the night, netted seven straight during the close count action to keep the Highlander threat alive.

Disaster Strikes

Consecutive buckets by forward Steve Proesel cut the Miner's advantage to one at 25-24 with eight minutes to go in the period, but the threat proved to be of no avail as a six minute scoreless spell left the Highlanders on the short end of a 35-24 count at 1:50.

Breaking out of the spell with two quick tosses by Fred Lewis and John Neshiem, Mac managed to cut two off the deficit ledger before the half to trail by 41-32.

Free Throw Edge

Rolla's high conversion rate from the charity stripe erased the Highlander's 20-13 fieldgoal advantage during the second half, as the foul-happy Clan handed the Miners 16 attempts from the line.

Chuck Andrews, who tied with Cairns as the Miners' high point man of the night with 21, connected for 10 of 12 free throws in the frame to keep the visitors comfortably on top throughout the entire half.

Killoran, Lewis and Proesel each netted early markers for the Clan in the second half as they cut the nine point deficit to five on two occasions, before Rolla again maneuvered the spread back to ten.

Later Clan bursts left them down by 60-54 and 69-73 counts with eleven and three minutes remaining respectively, but the five point trailings were as close as the Miners would permit, as they continued to lift their edge to ten and eleven points.

The loss, the Highlanders' second of the season to Rolla, dropped MacMurray to a 6-8 record.

Easterns Seeking Revenge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the National Football League's Eastern Conference is defensive about its 1-15 record against the West this season, it will have a chance to make amends Sunday.

All-star teams from the two divisions play in the Pro Bowl in Memorial Coliseum. The West, on the basis of the 1965 season, is a seven-point favorite.

In trying to close the season with a victory, the East will use a backfield that includes three Cleveland Browns — quarterback Frank Ryan, fullback Jimmy Brown and flanker Gary Collins. Washington's Charley Taylor is the fourth member.

Sonny Randle of St. Louis, the split end, and Pete Retzlaff of Philadelphia, the tight end, will join Collins as top targets for Ryan's passes.

In the interior offensive line are tackles Roosevelt Brown of New York and Bob Brown of Philadelphia, guards Gene Hickerson and John Wooten, both of Cleveland, and center Jim Ringo of Philadelphia.

Leading the West offense are five San Francisco 49ers and four Baltimore Colts.

Chicago halfback Gale Sayers and Detroit guard John Gordy represent the division's other five teams in the starting alignment.

San Francisco quarterback John Brodie and rookie fullback Ken Willard are in the backfield. Three 49ers, end Dave Parks, tackle Walt Rock and center Bruce Bosley anchor the line.

Colts' flanker Jimmy Orr and tight end John Mackey, along with Parks, are Brodie's primary receivers. Baltimore tackle Bob Vogel and guard Jim Parker are on the interior.

Aaron, January Take Charge In San Diego Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Tommy Aaron and Don January, a pair of seasoned but victory-hungry golf professionals, took charge of the third round of the $40,000 San Diego Open Saturday as the par-blasting continued.

The 28-year-old Aaron, who makes a fine living in golf but has never won a PGA tournament, knocked seven strokes off par for a 64 and January, aged 35, whose last triumph was in 1963 at Tucson, Ariz., had a 66.

Both have a 54-hole total of 200, thirteen strokes under par. The tournament site is the Stardust Country Club, which measures 6,738 yards, and par is 35-36-71.

As the leaders going into the round fell back, a second-year man on the tour, Bob Zimmerman, 25, from Dayton, Ohio, barged into the picture with a 64 for 202.

Paul Bondeson, from Palm Springs, Calif., who took the lead in the second round, remained in contention with a 71, and was tied at 203 with Mason Rudolph, who shot a 67.

Bill Casper Jr. had a 68 and was deadlocked at 204 with another of the new faces, Tom Weiskopf, of Columbus, Ohio, who had his third straight 68.

Chris Blocker, the 25-year-old strong boy from Jal, N.M., who shared the first round lead with Aaron, dropped back with a 74 for 207.

The final round is scheduled for Sunday with a sudden-death playoff in the event of a tie.

AFL Meeting

Eyes Expansion And Scouting
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League begins its winter meetings eyeing expansion into National League strongholds while looking to a central scouting formula that might serve as a weapon against the NFL's successful baby-sitting program.

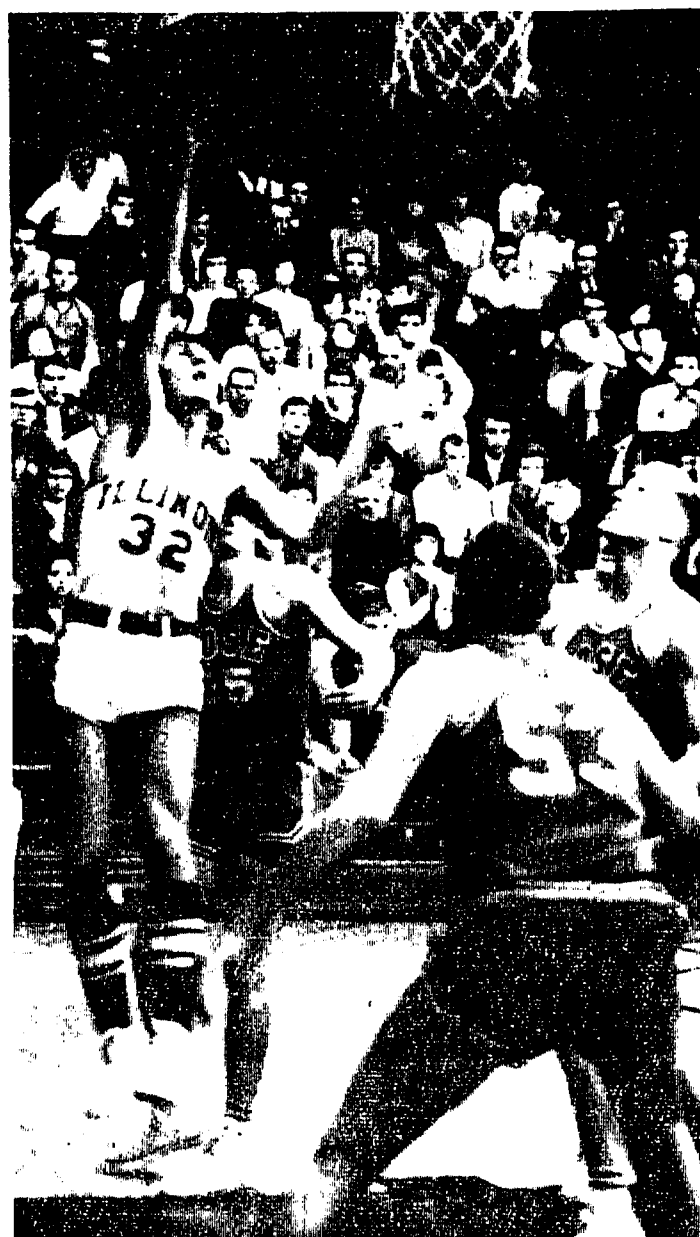

The two items are high on the official agenda for the four-day session which gets underway Sunday in an atmosphere filled with talk of player shifts — either via the trade route or by stocking the new Miami club.

With Miami becoming operational for the 1966 season as the league's ninth entry, the expansion committee is expected to examine the credentials of the leading cities expected to provide a 10th franchise for 1967.

The AFL already has committed itself to a 10th team for the 1967 season with Chicago, Los Angeles, Anaheim, Calif., Washington, D.C., New Orleans, Milwaukee, Seattle and Phoenix, Ariz., among the leading candidates.

AFL Meeting Eyes Expansion And Scouting

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The American Football League begins its winter meetings eyeing expansion into National League strongholds while looking to a central scouting formula that might serve as a weapon against the NFL's successful baby-sitting program.

The two items are high on the official agenda for the four-day session which gets underway Sunday in an atmosphere filled with talk of player shifts — either via the trade route or by stocking the new Miami club.

With Miami becoming operational for the 1966 season as the league's ninth entry, the expansion committee is expected to examine the credentials of the leading cities expected to provide a 10th franchise for 1967.

The AFL already has committed itself to a 10th team for the 1967 season with Chicago, Los Angeles, Anaheim, Calif., Washington, D.C., New Orleans, Milwaukee, Seattle and Phoenix, Ariz., among the leading candidates.

MacMurray Matmen Net 26-8 Margin

Coach Dave Camione's MacMurray Highlander wrestling unit captured their third dual meet victory of the season Saturday night in an impressive 26-8 mopping of the Millikin University grapplers.

Five Clansmen moved into the winners circle, two by virtue of pins, while one, Ray Jast, recorded a tied, and two more suffered setbacks in the eight match event.

Another Highlander, junior Wayne Scurter, posted a win in the nights only exhibition bout round on the card, a 3-1 triumph over John Manner in a 191 pound bout.

After Jast tied in his 130 pound match with Ken Lebeck by a 1-1 score, 137 pounder Ron Otto put the Highlanders on top by pinning Millikin contender Doug Zemke in 3:18.

Tom Knight, co-captain of the Clan squad, suffered the clans' first defeat of the night, losing by a 4-3 edge in the 145 pound class.

Sophomore Paul Nelson righted the loss in the fourth match, however, dropping Bob Bayhs by 8-2.

Continuing the momentum, 160 pounder Gary Henning posted a 6-1 win over Dan Willman to give MacMurray an 18-5 team point lead in the meet.

Millikin's Harry Futrell gained the visitors final victory of the night in the 167 pound category with a slim 3-2 decision over Greg Szafranski of the Highlanders.

Shutting-off the Millikin point output for the evening, Pete Brann and heavy weight Bob Kellogg posted wins in the final two matches to complete the 26-8 tally. Brann collected a 4-1 in

Firemen credited the aerial ladder with saving five lives

Four members of the Brown family perished here

Seven Empty Rooms, Seven Lives Stilled By Tragedy

By ART HARRIS

Jimmy Brown, 2, treasured his toy rifle most of all his Christmas gifts. Saturday morning it was still near his bed, but he was gone.

Jimmy, with four members of his family, and two elderly persons perished in one of Jacksonville's worst fires early that morning on the third floor above Wargen's drug store on the public square.

Those who died of apparent suffocation were Mrs. Leota Mae Brown, 46, and four of her six children, Ray, 15; Donna, 14; Ricky, 9, and Jimmy, 2; Alice Leggett, 72, and Charles Souza, 93.

Robert Lee Brown, 18, who was sleeping with his family in one of four rooms, was rescued by firemen.

Authorities believe 11 other persons in the apartments on the second and third floor escaped.

Firemen, using the city's aerial ladder truck, reached five persons within minutes after arriving on the scene.

Those known to have been in the building, and escaped, were Mrs. Clara Davis, 43; her daughter, Mrs. Kathryn Wease, 19, and her two children, Michael, 13 months, and Walter, 6 weeks, who occupied a second floor apartment.

Others included Mrs. Elsie Brannan, 76; Alice McCausland, 49; and Virgil Duncan, janitor. The two women occupied second floor rooms.

Two other unidentified tenants, residing over Barney's gift shop, also escaped unhurt.

Three persons were taken to hospitals, where two remained Saturday night.

Alice McCausland reportedly sustained burns to her legs and face, but was listed in satisfactory condition. Duncan was overcome by smoke and is in good condition.

Both are at Holy Cross.

Robert Brown was released from Passavant hospital at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, after he was treated for shock and smoke inhalation.

The 18-year-old Brown and one other family were the only persons to escape the smoke shrouded third floor.

Apparently trapped in their third floor apartment, John Yeager remained calm and safely led his wife and two children out of a rear window to a roof below.

But for Alice Leggett and Charles Souza, only a wallboard away from the Yeagers, fate was not so kind.

Sleepless Night

Mrs. Alice Brannan was unable to go to sleep.

She repeatedly thought she smelled smoke.

Then she opened a door and saw the flames.

Despite her 76 years, Mrs. Brannan reached a transom, some six feet from the floor, and managed to slip through the 20" opening.

Dropping to the floor in the dense smoke, she made her way through a store-room above Wargen's and broke a window to reach the roof.

Several persons who escaped told newsmen they heard someone yelling out "in back, and ringing what sounded like a bell, or someone banging on pans."

Mrs. Brannan did admit to calling for help but does not remember bells or clanging pans.

She then broke a window at the rear of Birdsell's tailor shop, made her way through the darkened interior to a window above East State street, which she promptly shattered.

Waving a rescued petticoat, Mrs. Brannan's help signal was spotted by motorists below.

Driving around the square, Gary

Strubbe, 23, of 801 Doolin, noticed Mrs. Davis and her daughter, Mrs. Weese frantically screaming for help.

Strubbe went to the police department and sounded the alarm about 1:45 a.m.

Within minutes, all of the manpower and machinery of the fire department was at the scene.

Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Weese were each holding a child out of the apartment windows, and firemen at first thought they might throw the children from the second floor.

Mrs. Davis later explained, she and her daughter were holding the infants out of the windows in order that they would be able to escape the dense smoke.

Firemen zoomed the aerial ladder to the women, and returned children and adults to safety, and then went up for Brown.

When Brown was freed from his apartment, firemen began to earn their pay.

Enter Third Floor

A crew, equipped with oxygen and masks groped their way into the third floor, headed by Assistant Chief Alvin Smith.

Meanwhile, other firemen battled their way to the second floor where they discovered the origin of the fire, and quickly went to work dousing the flames that were roaring up the wall to the third floor.

Approximately 100 persons, who gathered orderly on the square, watched, and at times assisted firemen in moving hose lines.

Then a word passed hushed through the spectators . . . some more people were believed trapped on the third floor.

Firemen by this time had reached the victims, and were evacuating the bodies onto the roof at the rear of the building.

Ambulance sirens were heard.

A fireman told a newsman seven persons, all unconscious and believed dead, were taken from the third floor.

Ambulances soon left bearing the mute evidence of his statement.

Saturday morning, Jacksonville asked why and how?

Fire Chief Dale Bond said that the fire apparently started in the second floor apartment believed occupied by Alice McCauslin.

She was found semi-conscious in a street floor hallway between Wargen's and Edward's jewelry.

Bond and Deputy Fire Marshals George Perlukas of Beardstown and Harry Doolin of Woodson opened an investigation Saturday morning, but declined to make public what they believed to be the cause of the fire.

Path Of Destruction

According to Bond, fire spread from the bedroom believed occupied by Alice McCauslin, up the wall. The intense heat shattered a transom window, and spread up the outside hallway wall to the third floor.

Bond placed the damage to the building, drug store, and Edwards jewelry store, in excess of $50,000.

The facilities of Holy Cross hospital's emergency room served as a temporary morgue early Saturday pending positive identification of the victims.

Coroner John B. Martin said an inquest would be held as soon as the investigation had been completed by officials.

Late Saturday afternoon John Yeager, 43, and his wife, Kay, 43, with their two children, Vickie Rose, 7, and Melody

June, 11, explained what happened.

"It was about twenty minutes to two, when Kay woke me up and said she smelled wood smoke and asked me to have a look," Yeager told.

"I went to the front window and couldn't see anything, and then looked out the back window, and still couldn't see anything."

"Then I opened the door and saw the flames."

"I told the kids to get down close to the floor until we got some clothes together. Then we crawled to the back window, and I set them out onto the roof."

He then detailed climbing from rampart to window, before reaching the staircase leading to East State street and fresh air.

"Kathryn Knew"

"Kathryn seemed to know something was going to happen. She just kept saying she couldn't go to bed," Mrs. Clara Davis said Saturday, sitting in a car with her daughter and two small children.

At that moment, they had their lives and the clothes they wore. Their home and modest furnishings were gone.

"She was sitting up with Michael when she said she heard a cracking and popping. She thought it was someone trying to break into the apartment."

"Then Kathryn went to the door and when she opened it I heard her say, 'Oh, Mom, get up; there's a terrible fire.' We tore the screens off and started yelling."

The thousands of curious who circled the square all day Saturday looked in vain at the building, seemingly hoping to find the answer on its cold stone face.

And in a third floor room there was no answer for those who stared numbly at a child's toy rifle that would never again hear his call to arms.

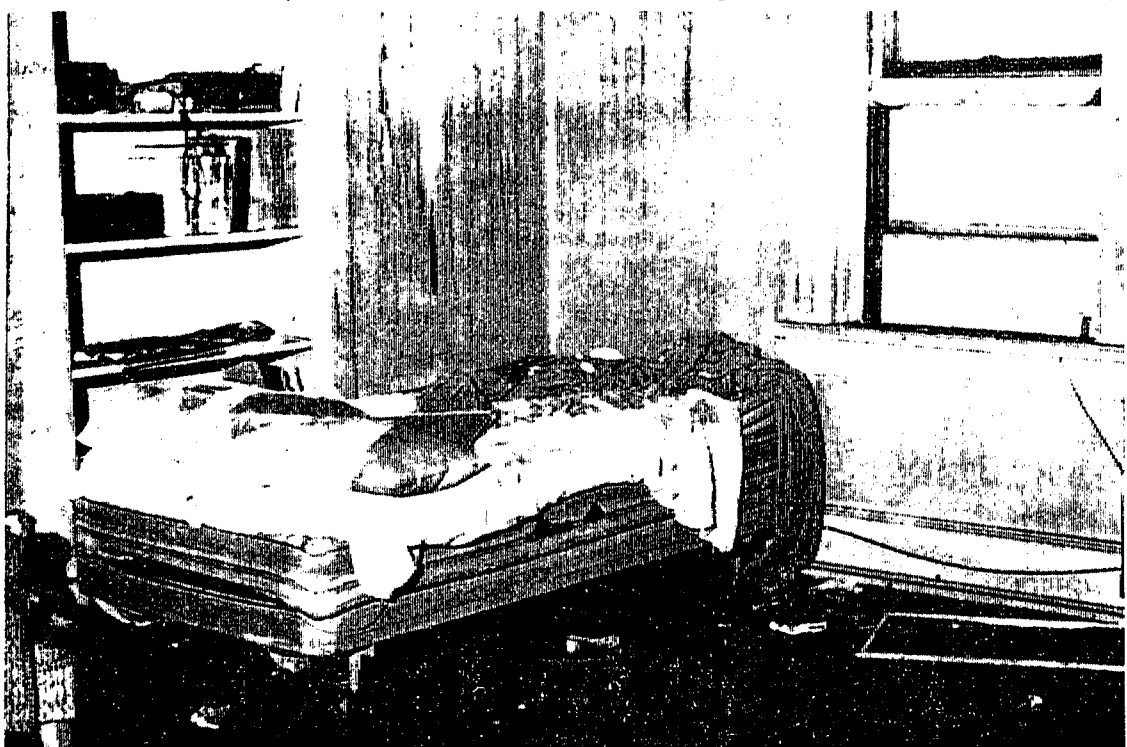

Aid for the stricken families who were rescued from the buildings came quickly. They were rushed to the hospital by ambulance and checked for possible injuries. Even before the flames had been reduced to embers, the Salvation Army was on hand to provide temporary shelter for the homeless victims.

Capt. Harold Thomas, commanding officer of the Salvation Army, said late Saturday night that many items of basic clothing have already been made available to the survivors and that other items of a specific nature would be available as soon as the needs have been determined.

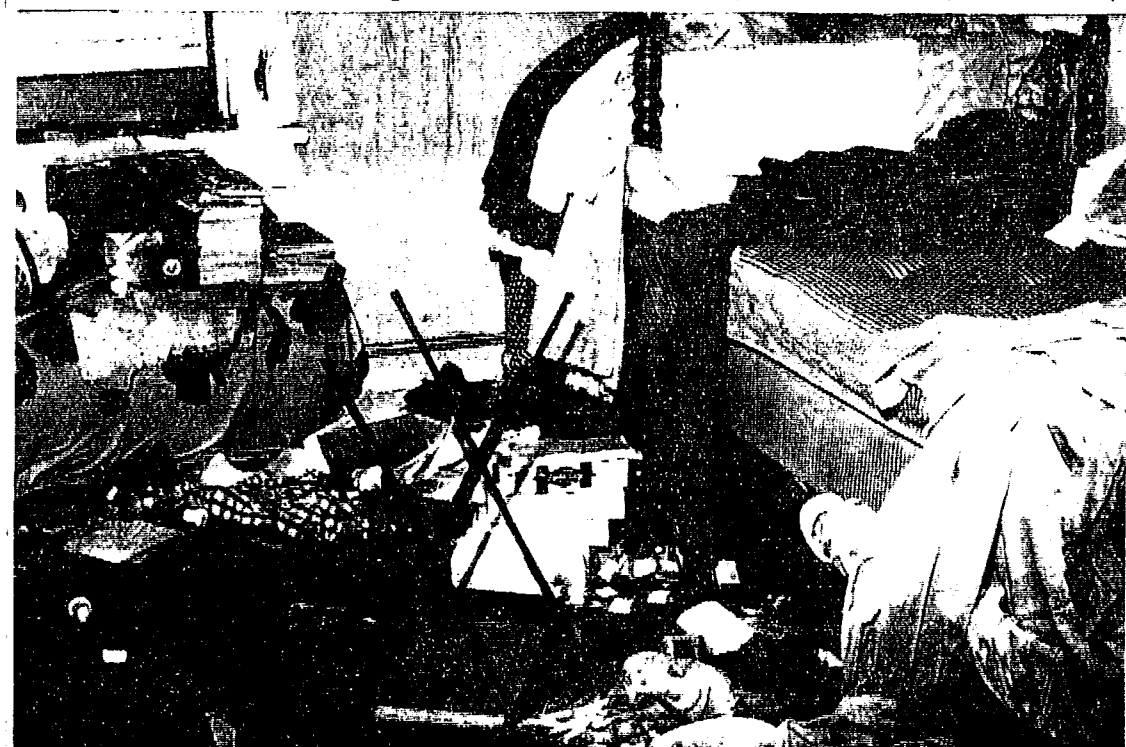

Capt. Thomas said the Salvation Army in cooperation with Police Chief Charles Runkel would accept funds earmarked for the families involved. Capt. Thomas said any funds collected would be distributed to those involved on the basis of need.

Betty Houston, executive secretary of the Morgan County Red Cross, said the disaster committee was at work trying to find new housing for the victims and determining clothing sizes for the children and adults involved. Mrs. Houston said anyone who wished to donate furniture and clothing could call the Red Cross office, giving the nature of the items available for a list she will compile.

Residents who wish to assist the stricken families are urged to first contact either the Salvation Army or Red Cross.

C.D. Of A To Assist With Bloodmobile

The Catholic Daughters of America, Court Our Saviour met at the K of C hall Thursday, January 6. The Grand Regent, Mrs. Donald Blesse, presided.

Chaplain Reverend Father James Caldwell was the speaker. He discussed and showed a film about the religious feast of the church, the Epiphany.

Mrs. Con Lonergan, mission chairman, gave an account of the progress on the priests' vestments being made.

Mrs. John Taylor gave an interesting history about the Red Cross blood bank program. It is called a Bloodmobile unit since all the equipment needed is transported to the area each visit. The Exchange club and Boy Scout troops provide the manpower necessary to load and unload the materials.

Trained nurses accompany the unit and are assisted by local doctors and nurses who donate their time. Altogether nearly one hundred volunteer workers are on hand to assist in each operation. The next visit will be Feb. 15 and 16 at which time the Catholic Daughters will provide a part of the refreshments for the donors.

Members voted to make a monetary donation to the Parkway School.

The state convention of the Catholic Daughters of America will be held at the LaSalle hotel in Chicago, Ill. April 23 through April 26. Boston, Massachusetts will be the host city to the National Convention in July.

To Sleep, To Dream

Sleep researchers have discovered what many mature adults knew all along—that young people sleep longer and more soundly than older persons. This is not news, but it's always nice to have science tell us we're right.

A research team at the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute, after evaluating hundreds of electroencephalograph readings, came to the conclusion that the young adult sleeps soundly 20 per cent of his sleeping time, while the comparable figure for the older person is 10 per cent. They found that the young dream of adventure, and dream more often as the night progresses. The elderly dream early in the night, and most frequently of times when they were young and their families needed them.

Our own unscientific and informal research on the subject of sleeping habits of the young adult brought similar answers, though the sources were different. Parents who have attempted to awaken a sleeping teenage baby sitter testify to the depth of sleep of which the young are capable. Information on how long young persons sleep came from parents who have tried to rouse teenagers out of bed on a Saturday morning. Reports on the light sleep of older adults came from those whose sons or daughters were often late getting home with the family car.

As for the type of dreams—adventurous for the young and reminiscent for the old—we will not argue with the UCLA researchers. These are the same dreams many persons dream when awake. It seems that human beings are human, awake or asleep.

Import Of Tashkent

Fate intervened, through the sudden death of India's Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri, to divert some of the attention that normally would have been focused on the Tashkent agreement with President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan. Shastri's passing, and the transference of power in India, overshadowed the agreement.

Though questions of how India's course may continue or be altered under the direction of the interim prime minister, Gulzari Lal Nanda, are now of overriding interest, it is worthwhile to consider two aspects of the Tashkent declaration brought about through the good offices of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. The agreement is important, though it is to some extent a disappointment. Kosygin's role, especially if it is thought of as a portent of changing attitudes in the Kremlin, also has no little significance—perhaps more than the India-Pakistan agreement itself.

Though the conference in Tashkent did not bring a meeting of minds on the basic issues dividing India and Pakistan, it did at least result in agreement to pull back armed forces to positions held before the Kashmir fighting began last fall. In addition, Shastri and Ayub pledged their countries to non-interference in each others' internal affairs, agreed to re-establish full diplomatic relations, and reaffirmed their obligation under the United Nations charter to settle disputes peacefully. At the very least, this draws off some of the heat.

Kosygin's part is generally seen as an enhancement of Soviet influence, but more than that is involved. The very fact that Moscow has for the first time sought to mediate a dispute between other countries may augur a welcome change in outlook. Heretofore the Soviet Union has been largely a disruptive, divisive force in the world. Tashkent does not necessarily herald an about-face, but it is promising.

FINDING THE WAY

Get New Hold on Life

By Calling on the Lord

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

The young man leaned across the table and looked at me with the large eyes of a wounded animal. He had been sharing his heartache, his homesickness and his question, "Have you ever been in a barrel of custard?" I'd never thought of a barrel of custard, let alone imagine being in one! "But that's what life in this job is," he said, "I'm in over my head. I can feel something all around me, and I can't get hold of anything. I'm in a barrel of custard."

I suffered distress and anguish. However, there was a significant difference. The man who wrote these words found a place to take hold. He wasn't in a barrel of custard. For the Psalm continues: "Then called I upon the Lord." The experience of despair and anxiety is common; the difference is in what a person does with it. For some it's the protest of the circumstance. For another it's organizing a group to speak out. Some sink or go to pieces or lose themselves in self-pity or alcoholism or some other form of resignation. But some take hold and live. Life isn't a barrel of custard, for there are places to take hold and a reason for being. There is a valid answer beyond the doubt!

The years have passed but I continue to understand that experience.

The enigmatic problem of Viet Nam is so difficult to analyze that it surrounds us, defies easy answers and has no simple handles.

Personal disasters engulf some with a quick succession of one event after another, leaving families to slog through swamps instead of standing on solid ground.

Doubts and anxieties, those formless feelings in the night and those nagging doubts at mid-day, keep a person struggling with the meaning of existence.

Boredom with the endless round of dismal trivialities and the uninteresting prospect of more and more and more of the same leaves some sinking in the insecurity of a nothingness.

Centuries ago the Psalmist laid hold of the same problem: The sorrows of death encompassed me; The pangs of Sheol laid hold upon me.

I see it as very odd. Were I Alice, I should respond to Harry's insistence on confusing me with his mother by retreating into a separate bedroom until my difference from her was made clear.

Although I think it is a pleasant thing on the whole to share our homes with children, I also think there is one thing we cannot share with them—our adult relationship to their father. I see this custom of adopting the name by which his children identify him as insulting to his private meaning to us.

Is this custom part of this country's revolting notion that we must die as persons as soon as we become parents? I don't know. However, it is my view that Alice can't think of Harry as "Dad" without forfeiting some awareness of herself as a desirable woman.

I don't see how Harry can call Alice "mom" day after day, year after year, without coming to see her as someone who bears no resemblance to the girl whose touch could heat his blood in those tender, tumultuous days when delight in her affirmed and re-affirmed joy in his sexual choice.

I think that people cannot so lose themselves in their secondary characters as "mom" and "dad" without losing some of the poignancy of their primary characters as husband and wife.

The timing of a recent Peking blast reflects the Red Chinese leadership's attitude toward Soviet moves. On the day that Alexander N. Shelepin and his delegation arrived in Peking en route to Hanoi, People's Daily printed a long tirade against the United States and its motives in continuing a pause in the bombing of North Viet Nam.

When there was a bombing pause last May, it recalled, there were "murmurs from among the modern revisionists"—meaning the Soviet leaders—that the suspension was too short and "the trick had not been very well played."

Now, it continued, "the Johnson administration appears to be taking the advice of these people."

Evidently "these people" included not only advisers in Washington, but those same "modern revisionists."

The paper, which is the official voice of the Chinese Communist party, then presented this as evidence against the Russians.

In pursuing its "peace talks" hoax, the Johnson administration places special hopes on the Khrushchev revisionists and their followers. It began the "pause in bombing" on Dec. 24, and on the same day its ambassador in Moscow, Foy D. Kohler, called on Soviet Vice Foreign Minister V.V. Kuznetsov.

"Three days later, it published its '14-point' proposition"—the American terms for peace talks with North Viet Nam. Washington Middle Class Is Growing Into a Potent U.S. Force

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—In 1965, the term "middle class" was used increasingly by some critics of American life as a harsh epithet.

Some of this undoubtedly resulted from the new stress upon the contrasting poor. Fighters in the War on Poverty often talked of revolutionary stirrings among the unorganized, invisible forgotten poor Americans. In so doing they sometimes made the nation's middle class into an opposition.

Some of the criticism was more severe, equating "middle-class values" with shallow, sterile, half-empty notions of life. This assault came usually from the most ardent poverty battlers and from Negro militants.

In extreme cases, the logic of the argument seemed to be that, except for the obvious economic advantages, membership in America's middle class is not a desirable state.

This is not the place to examine the intricate matter of whether being poor may provide one somehow with a superior set of values and patterns of living, closer to the American ideal than those pursued by the middle class.

The point to be made is not simply that most Americans are in the middle, but that more and more people are vaulting into this category every year.

They are not an "opposition" to be fought. In a very real sense, they are the country. Their values and habits of life, for better or for worse, are the nation's standards.

This does not mean they should not be assailed where they are shallow or limited or downright harmful. It does mean that it is somewhat beside the point to attack them merely as "middle-class" attributes.

The enlargement of the country's middle class goes forward by astonishing leaps. In 1947, just 7 per cent of U.S. nonfarm families had annual incomes of $10,000 or more—a level widely considered to provide "ample living" for a family of four—even though postwar prosperity was upon us.

By 1963, 21 per cent of nonfarm families had reached or surpassed the $10,000 income mark.

Indeed, some 44 per cent of such families were living on $7,000 or more a year—a respectable level in terms of meeting human needs. All these figures, of course, are expressed in "constant dollars" to wash out inflationary aspects.

In the book entitled "This U.S.A.," by Ben Wattenberg in collaboration with Richard Scammon, former director of the Census Bureau, it is suggested that by the year 2000—a little more than three decades away—the median nonfarm family income will be $10,000 a year. Half the country's nonfarm families would be above that figure, if that forecast comes true.

Nor is the growth of middle-class America a phenomenon restricted to white people. As the Wattenberg-Scammon book indicates, from 1948 to 1963 the percentages of non-white males in the $6,000 to $10,000 income category bounded up by almost 25 times, while the number of whites moving into that class rose just eightfold.

In 1963 there were an estimated 4.7 million nonwhites (out of some 20 million) living with middle-class incomes. The number is rising fast.

Negros, beyond question, have a great deal of catching up to do, since they bulk so heavily among the nation's poor. But the figures suggest that the catch-up process is strongly underway. Comparable white advances simply are taking many families beyond levels needed to fulfill basic needs.

There are really two wars on poverty. The country's steady gains in real income constitutes one. Median family income, for example, shot up 45 per cent in the 1947-63 period—and continues to climb.

The government's War on Poverty is an attempt of another order—to fit more people to make these income advances and to alleviate the distress of the "presently poor" who cannot wait in misery for the possibly comforting statistics of the year 2000.

To use the phrase "middle class" as a term of derision seems as little pointless in a country that is going middle class in a big way. But to recognize that amazing growth should not be to ignore the very real plight of the millions who are still a far reach from that status.

On the same day, Kohler called on Nikolay V. Podgorny, president of the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R.

The paper quoted comments abroad to show that the Soviet and American actions might have "common features," and that "before taking the decision that Shelepin should visit Hanoi, the Soviet Union obviously was tipped off in one form or another by the United States about the pause in its bombing."

There were evidences of heavy pressure on North Viet Nam's Communist leadership from both Moscow and Peking. Comments from Hanoi welcome Soviet aid but at the same time invariably mention gratitude for Chinese aid, too. Still, there has been less emphasis on China in recent days from Hanoi than there has been in the past, and possibly Peking is worried about the Soviet delegation.

This does not mean that peace is around the corner. If present peace offensive efforts fail, the war could intensify.

Says Cooperation Key To Rural Improvement

Rapid changes on and off the farm have created imbalances in the structure of Illinois communities that can be corrected in part by community and area resource development programs, according to University of Illinois rural development specialist E. L. Sauer.

Changes in rural and non-rural technology have been accompanied by increased population in metropolitan centers and decreases in many rural areas, Sauer notes. From 1950 to 1960 Illinois population increased 15.7 percent with 51 counties losing population while 51 counties gained.

Nearly 97 percent of the state's population growth during these 10 years occurred in the metropolitan areas of Chicago, Rockford, Peoria, Springfield, Champaign, Decatur, Rock Island and East St. Louis. In 1960, 40 percent of Illinois farms had gross sales of products of $10,000 or more, but some counties had no farms in this class.

Sauer forecasts that the economy of Illinois will continue to grow with changes occurring even more rapidly in the future than they have in the past. Population will tend to concentrate more in the metropolitan areas and per capita incomes in both metropolitan and nonmetropolitan areas will increase.

E. L. Sauer

Technological changes in business and industry and on farms will continue to cause shifts in labor demands and will change the skills and knowledge needed for employment. Some rural areas will experience further out-migration while others will be confronted with a rapidly expanding population demanding more services and facilities.

"The crucial task confronting Illinois citizens will be to promote changes that are beneficial while working to avoid or to modify those changes that are detrimental," Sauer says. And skills and abilities of people must keep pace with the changing demands. These tasks call for accurately assessing the changes and carefully weighing alternative lines of action.

Sauer believes that many problems can be solved best and most effectively when they are approached under local leadership through the community and area resource development program. Such programs are the means by which people identify and solve local problems or meet local needs.

Decide On Goals
Interest in community and area resource planning and development continues to grow, Sauer points out. Fifty-five Illinois counties have now organized resource development committees; 57 counties have some planning or zoning activities. New 1965 federal and state legislation will increase interest in resource planning and development, particularly at the area level.

Local people should take the initiative and carry out major responsibilities in planning resource development, Sauer emphasizes. He believes that citizens need to do these things:

—Use their resources to optimum advantage.

—Decide on goals as a group.

—Work actively through

VIRGINIA — Russell Meridith, farm adviser, announces that a county-wide meeting will be held on Estate Planning, Wills and Inheritance Laws. The meeting will be held on Tuesday, Jan. 18 at 1:15 in the Farm Bureau Hall.

C. E. Whalen, Extension specialist in agricultural law, University of Illinois, will be the speaker. "Values of farms have increased during the past 20 years and this has made it even more important to do estate planning. State and federal inheritance taxes can take a large share of an estate. Proper planning can reduce these costs," Meridith says. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

Foresees Strong Hog Prices Through '66

The 1966 hog price outlook is the best it has been in years, reports University of Illinois livestock marketing economist E. E. Broadbent. Hog prices are high and the market should continue to show strength throughout the year.

The December price of $31 a hundred at most terminals and $30 at country markets was probably the highest price we will see in years. But hog prices have been more than $25 a hundred on most markets since December 8, increasing from $16.04 a hundred in early January.

These prices reflect the basic hog shortage throughout the country, Broadbent says. The number of market hogs cannot be increased before summer or late fall. Spring farrowings will not be soon enough or large enough to materially affect the late 1966 market supply.

This situation means hog prices of more than $20 a hundred for most of the year and possibly into 1967. Basic hog production costs are less than $15 a hundred.

Feed grain prices are low in relation to butcher hog prices. Broadbent says. There is no logical reason to expect appreciably higher feed grain prices. Therefore, producers can expect continued favorable returns from hogs in the year ahead.

Feeder pigs are being sold from $25 to $30 for 40- to 60-pound feeders but there are very few available. Some feeder pig suppliers have limited sales to old established customers.

Consumption Low
Pork consumption is 59 pounds per person, the lowest level it has been since the 1930's. Pork prices are the highest since that period. The retail prices of bacon and pork sausage have increased more than 40 percent over 1964 prices. Retail prices for beef and lamb have increased only from two to five percent.

CROPLAND PROJECT BEGINS THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture has announced its cropland conversion program will be operated on a pilot or experimental basis this year in 67 counties in 21 states.

This program is designed to improve farm income by helping farmers convert land now being used to produce surplus crops to some long-range income producing use such as forest, grass, water storage, wild life habitat or recreational facilities.

Farmers signing agreements to convert land for periods of 5-10 years will receive payments and technical assistance. The counties include Fayette, Johnson and Perry in Illinois; Harrison, Jennings, and Lawrence in Indiana; and Ringgold, Woodbury, Shelby and Wayne in Iowa.

DESTRUCTIVE
Estimated average annual loss of cotton and cottonseed caused by the boll weevil in the United States is $203 million, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

EDIBLE
The wild cattail is an edible plant. The rootstock can be used as a salad or cooked vegetable; the young flower head can be used in soup, while the yellow pollen of the older flower head can be made into flour.

These price comparisons may turn consumers away from pork, Broadbent notes. Retail prices have become high enough to cause a backup in the flow of pork and adversely affect live hog prices.

More variation in the production of and prices paid for meat comes from changes in the number of animals marketed, Broadbent points out. The number of hogs raised depends mostly on the farmer's judgment concerning the market price for hogs and the supply and cost of available feed. If prospects for profits seem favorable, more gilts and sows will be bred and more feeder pigs will be added to the herd. If price prospects are unfavorable, both younger animals and some breeding stock will be marketed.

Four Year Cycle
Market cycles have developed as farmers respond to feed supply and price changes. The time required to breed and raise marketable animals plays an important part in how quickly farmers adjust production in response to the existing market situation. With hogs a year must pass before decisions to expand production are felt on the market. And it normally takes about four years to go through one hog cycle. We are now at the low level of the hog supply cycle.

The 1965 bumper corn crop is cheap, Broadbent says. There will be 220 million bushels of surplus corn added to government carryover stocks. Local non-government stored corn is cheap and plentiful. All other feed grains are in record supply and are also cheap.

With this situation producers are looking for a profitable outlet for their feed grains. The easiest, quickest possibility for profits is to expand hog numbers, a situation that can be verified by the high price for hogs relative to the price of corn. Since May, hogs have sold for more than $20 a hundred pounds. In December hog farmers could buy more than 20 bushels of corn for the price of 100 pounds of pork.

Good profits can be made by selling corn through hogs, Broadbent believes. But this situation will not continue beyond early 1967. By that time hog numbers will have grown to the point where price reversals can be expected.

BRIMFUL and running over

By Jim Brim

Every day many pounds of meat are lost through injury to livestock. Much of this injury is caused by poor loading facilities. Take a look at your chute and the area around it.

A chute should be solid and heavily enough built to handle all possible weights of stock. This will eliminate balkiness due to a shaky floor or one that shows light from underneath.

Sides should be strong. Solid sides cut down outside distraction and the only way the livestock can see to get out is up the chute.

Outside ramps to stand on help handlers prevent traffic jams. Helps move stock more easily.

Inside the chute be sure cleats are solid and in good repair. Be sure the inside is free of nails, broken or loose boards, bolts or any sharp object which may cause bruising or other injury.

Make your driveway all weather and roomy enough to prevent the need for lots of backing and turning. Jostling causes bruising.

You and your trucker will appreciate good loading facilities and they will increase profits.

Present hog prices tell us that the old law of supply and demand still is being enforced. A low supply of hogs is keeping the price up for an unusually, but welcome, long time.

LAW on the farm

Pollution of water from municipal and industrial waste has become a major problem to landowners having property next to streams and rivers. Many farmers depend heavily on such sources for water for animals and for irrigation.

Pollution can have a tremendous effect on the productive capacity and value of land. The technology of treating large amounts of wastes has been solved, but the process is very costly.

Our laws have changed to accommodate this change. The old rule of law stated that a landowner was entitled to the flow of water with quality unimpaired. In theory this rule did not allow for any pollution. Now the courts seem to apply a test of "reasonableness" in the amount of pollution but hold the upper stream owner responsible for using a high degree of care in disposing of sewage, industrial waste and other pollutants. If a farmer can show actual damage from pollution by upstream users, he is entitled to compensation for his loss.

In addition to this individual remedy, pollution and water sanitation are subject to public control by the Illinois Sanitary Water Board, which regulates waste disposal with a permit system and hears complaints of violations. The board is empowered to stop persons, agencies, industry and governments from throwing, running, draining or otherwise discharging into any waters any organic or inorganic matter that may cause harmful pollution.

The board is further empowered to punish violators with a fine of $500, an additional $100 fine for subsequent daily violations and the further possibility of a 30-day jail sentence. If the board finds it necessary to take additional action, it may request the proper authorities to obtain a court order requiring violators to cease their unlawful pollution or be subject to further criminal proceedings and action for damages.

Under the recently amended criminal law in Illinois, a person may also be charged with reckless conduct if pollution is so serious that it endangers the bodily safety of persons dependent on such water. In the case of stream or well pollution, the violator may be fined up to $1,000 and/or receive a year in jail. Intentional pollution may produce a charge of criminal damage to property and subject the violator to a fine of up to $500 and/or a year in jail.

Both federal and state governments passed laws on water pollution in 1965. The emphasis is on investigation and research to find new ways of treating wastes. The Illinois law established a Water Pollution and Water Resources Commission. The commission will hold hearings over the entire state to study pollution problems and hopes to make recommendations on this subject to the next General Assembly in January 1967.

Morgan-Scott Landscaping School Set

Landscaping workshops are being organized for couples in Morgan and Scott Counties by the Cooperative Extension Service. The workshop sessions will be held on Monday nights, February 7, 14, 21, 28 and March 7 at the Farm Bureau building in Jacksonville and on Thursday evenings, February 10, 17, 24, and March 3 and 10 at the IREC building in Winchester.

The workshops are designed to help couples understand the principles of landscaping so they can judge what is needed for a particular situation. During the time of the workshop, class members will be working towards a total landscape plan for their own home. At the conclusion of the series of five sessions each couple will have the opportunity to have a conference with William R. Nelson, landscape architect, University of Illinois. He will analyze the plans made by couples and make suggestions for changes. The classes will be taught by George Myers, Scott county farm adviser and Frances Webb, Morgan-Scott home adviser.

MIDDLE MAN IN THE MIDDLE OF CHANGE!

Time was when the farmer was his own middleman. What the consumer paid, the farmer got. Today only a fraction of total farm production is sold directly to the consumer—possibly as little as 2 or 3 per cent of the total.

In 1964 U.S. consumers spent almost 10 billion dollars for food, clothing, tobacco and leather products. The farmer got about one fourth of this. The remainder was the value and the cost of services performed after the products were sold by the farmer.

Back in 1947 there were an estimated 10.4 million workers on farms, while there were 11.7 million workers employed in the marketing of farm products. In 1964 the number of farm workers was down to slightly over 6 million while those engaged in marketing had gone up to 13 million.

MR. MURPHY'S GOAT

By John Rankin

Scott gets amusement on his paper route by watching the neighborly quarrels between cat-lover Mrs. Lindsay and Mr. Murphy who keeps a goat. The latest news Scott has to report is that Mrs. Lindsay now not only has cats but has added a skunk to her pet family.

"A skunk!" Mom gasped. "Surely Mrs. Lindsay wouldn't tolerate such a vile creature even near her place — to say nothing of keeping the thing in her yard."

"Oh he's not that sort of skunk," Scott pointed out. "She bought him at the pet shop — but Mr. Murphy says he's worse than a dozen cats and..."

Dad laid his paper aside and got up to flick cigar ashes off the front of his shirt and trousers with the back of his hand. "Perhaps Mrs. Lindsay felt that Mr. Murphy's goat needed a companion and bought the skunk to keep him company," he said with an air of faked seriousness and left the room.

BIRTHDAY WISH

The Junior page readers and your editor send these birthday marchers greetings and good wishes.

WHEN IS YOUR BIRTHDAY?

Two weeks before your birthday (sooner if you wish we will hold material for Sunday nearest your birthday) send your name, address, age, birthdate and parents names to the Junior Page, Jacksonville Journal-Courier, Jacksonville, Ill., and you will be put in the Birthday Parade. If you wish send a photo. This may be picked up as soon as it appears in the paper.

Murphy's place," he grinned. "Want to see if he's caught Mrs. Lindsay's skunk in that homemade trap he rigged up and put in his garage?"

"Perhaps you're unduly anxious, dear," she said with a passive smile. "I doubt that Mr. Murphy will catch that animal with a makeshift trap."

"But he's a real smart trapper," Scott declared. "Got a big box propped up with a stick and baited with a live chicken. When the skunk tries to get the chicken he'll spring the trap and Mr. Murphy will have him right where he wants him."

"That is very clever and may trap the animal," Mom said with a wry smile. "But what will Mr. Murphy do with the thing after he gets it?"

"He'll hustle it off to the Humane Society or some other place and Mrs. Lindsay will never know what happened to it," Scott grinned. Then he hurried out and got on his bicycle and left.

Scott Excited Dad and Mom were sitting down to supper when Scott came in off his paper route glowing with excitement as he pulled up a chair at the table.

"Well, son, are your bickering patrons out at the menagerie still battling? Or have they by any chance settled down for the time being at least?" Dad asked matter-of-factly.

"Don't know about Mrs. Lindsay. But Mr. Murphy is plenty sick about the whole thing. He caught the skunk in his trap and wishes he'd never gone near the thing," Scott responded with a wide grin.

"And did he take the animal to the Humane Society like he vowed he would?" Mom wanted to know.

Scott shook his head. "No. But that's where he really got into big trouble," he grinned. "When he tried to put the thing in a sack he realized it wasn't Mrs. Lindsay's pet skunk! It was a wild one that had drifted in from the woods."

Let's Go Birding

White-Wings Again

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Again our article concerns the beautiful rare White-winged Crossbill. We first reported it seen on Pine Street, when at least six of these birds appeared. In spite of the warfare waged by the Blue Jays upon these strangers, from one to three crossbills returned sporadically for several days. The water in the lily pool seemed to entice them back. Then they came no more.

But word came to us from various people stating that they had seen unusual-looking birds in hemlock trees scattered throughout the west end of the city. Some observers said that they had looked for them in their bird book but couldn't run them down. Others finally succeeded in identifying them.

The largest flock of about seventeen was seen almost daily — early morning, at noon, and in late afternoon — in the three hemlocks just west of the First Presbyterian Church on West College Avenue. A tall TV aerial stands near the evergreens. On the top of this aerial sat five disgruntled Starlings, resenting the presence of the crossbills.

There they hunched, talking to themselves and to each other about the brazenness of the unwanted poachers. Or could they have been jealous of their dainty rivals?

Near Illinois College White-winged Crossbills were also reported to us from the Illinois College area. Whoever saw birds about the size of our English Sparrow with two broad white wing-bars easily visible even in flight undoubtedly saw these unusual bird visitors.

The birds may have been close enough so that their crossed bills were evident, bills made especially for tearing apart the cones.

If there were a few male birds in the flock, they could not have been overlooked; they are a rosy-pink with black wings and tail, very lovely to look at. The females, and the immatures too, are olive-gray with a yellowish rump, but they also have the unique crossed bills and the broad white wing-bars. They are the most dainty modest ladies, and there usually are many more of them in a flock.

The Red Crossbill, which the National Audubon Society featured on its 1965 Christmas card, has been seen more often in our area; but we haven't found any this year as yet. If we do, we shall favor it with an article. This crossbill is duller and lacks the white wing-bars.

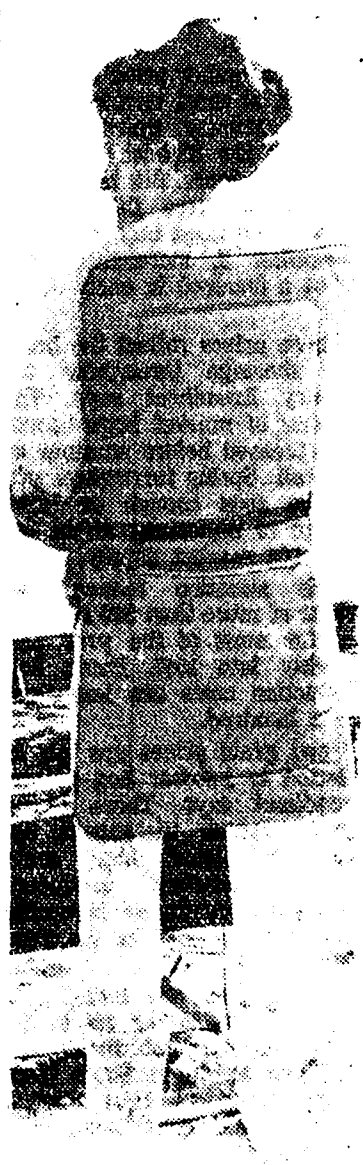

Perhaps our readers will find one before we do. The game is on!

By Mary Pence Claywell

Space, far above us, so love- ly and bright. Blue skies in Glory, to cur- tain the night. Yet man, Lord, looks up- ward, in greed, to transgress, To seize Thy Domain, and escape this earth's mess: Some claim that the moon may be all diamond decked; The Earth too, was lovely until it was wrecked. By men and by nations, dis- playing the brute. As sinful as Eve...with the "Forbidden" fruit: It could be a sad picture, as earthly hands try. IF they DID find a diamond field, up in the sky. But when bids on the agreement has been "virtually" job were opened they were completed between the Oscar Mayer packing company and the city of Beardstown to enable the city to construct the sewage disposal plant "within the city's ability to pay" has been made by the Chamber of Commerce.

In its newsletter to members this week the Chamber stated: "The problem concerning the construction the Oscar Mayer Sewer Plant has now been virtually agreed upon. Goodell and Associates have made necessary changes, working with the contractors and the state of Illinois, so that costs may be reduced within the limits of the city's ability to pay. Completion should come rapidly, when construction begins, as the weather permits."

The city originally was planning on an expenditure of $500,000 through revenue bonds, for the sewer disposal unit to be

Presbyterian Group Seeks Ends Of Synods

By ROBERT SHAW
ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — The Presbyterian Church in the U.S. is seeking to end the synods, a move that would give the church's 14 million members more power over such matters as property, budgeting, program planning and eliminating the centuries-old synod from the church structure.

The drive by the presbytery is a counter move against a recommendation last May by a special committee of the General Assembly of the church that synods be given more authority. The St. Louis churchmen fear that increasing the power of the synods would remove decision making from the more local presbyteries. They want the presbyteries strengthened.

They propose that the synods, whose power basically is judicial, be converted into "area offices" that would coordinate the activities of the various service agencies of the church, while retaining some of their service agencies of the church, while retaining some of their judicial powers. There would be only a few of these offices scattered about the nation.

The General Assembly's special committee proposes a much larger role for the synods in church administration. The committee wants to reduce the number of synods from 33 to 14 to make them more regional in character and give them power over such matters as property, budgeting, program planning and eliminating the centuries-old synod from the church structure. Dr. James Spivey, executive secretary of the St. Louis Presbytery, said the philosophy behind the proposal was that the synod is more removed from the places of need and can more objectively apply the resources of the church to the broad spectrum of needs.

If the St. Louis Presbytery gets enough support, the special committee's report, in the works several years, might be returned for further study at the 178th General Assembly meeting in Boston, Mass., in May. At the same time, the presbytery hopes its counter proposal will be given consideration.

Both sets of recommendations are aimed at streamlining the church structure, a need Dr. Spivey said has been recognized for years.

Since it was opened in 1955, some 50 million people have visited Disneyland, near Anaheim, Calif.

Battle On Soybean Price Props Headed Toward Legislators

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The highly successful soybean crop is being drawn into agriculture's conflict over government farm controls.

This vegetable oilseed crop has made a record that surpasses that of any other American farm commodity. Within a relatively brief number of years, it has developed from a minor crop from the standpoint of production volume and grower income to one that now ranks fourth in gross returns to farmers.

It has not been the subject of government production controls or surplus accumulations. This has been so because of a rapidly increasing world demand for vegetable oils for food purposes and for soybean meal used as a protein supplement for livestock.

This crop is being grown in wide areas in the Midwest, the North Atlantic region, the Southeast and the central South. It has come along to help absorb acres forced by government control programs out of cotton, tobacco, peanuts, corn and wheat.

The soybean now finds itself in the midst of a controversy over federal controls because of proposals that the government price guarantee or support rate be increased. The government has been providing soybean supports for many years, but they figured insignificantly because the domestic and foreign demand has been increasing at rates sufficient to hold market prices above the support rates.

Ask Price Prop Boost But the American Soybean Association, a trade organization of growers, processors and shippers, has appealed to Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman for an increase in price guarantees from the current $2.25 a bushel to $2.35.

The National Farmers Union has gone the association one better. It wants a support rate of $2.50.

However, the American Farm Bureau Federation, a leader in efforts to get gradual government withdrawal from farm controls, has let it be known that it will fight any soybean increase. It doubtless will use its influence in Congress to try to head off a support boost.

Those wanting higher supports argue that increased returns must be assured growers if U.S. production is to keep pace with increasing demands. They say that the failure of acre yields of soybeans to keep pace with gains in acre yields of corn and some other crops threaten future soybean plantings.

Corn More Profitable The Soybean Association said that its surveys indicate that without the inducement of a higher price guarantee, this

Outlines 1966 Changes In Feed Grain Program

URBANA — Title III of the Food and Agricultural Act of 1965, which deals with feed grains, continues similar voluntary provisions of the feed grain program of the past. But this section of the new agricultural bill includes several changes of which Illinois farmers should be aware.

University of Illinois agricultural economist Duane Erickson points out that the total price support for corn at the national level is $1.30 per bushel. This amount is made up of $1.00-per-bushel loan rate and a 30-cent price support payment. In 1965 the loan rate was $1.05 and the price support payment was 20 cents for a total price support of $1.25 per bushel.

Total price support levels for corn will vary from $1.29 to $1.34 per bushel in Illinois, Erickson says.

The basis of yields used for computing price support payments and diversion payments is another change affecting feed grains. In 1966 projected yields will be used. Projected yields are a five-year average yield plus an increase of about 17 percent to reflect recent increases in productivity and yield levels.

Varies By Counties Projected corn yields in Illinois counties range from 50 to 112 bushels per acre. The average projected yield for Illinois is 91 bushels per acre for corn.

Diversion of land from surplus crops is a continued provision under Title III of this bill, Erickson says. A change from 1965 is that no diversion payment is made for the first 20 percent of land diverted unless the farmer has a base acreage of 25 acres or less.

In this case a diversion payment is made for the first 20 percent of land at the rate of 20 percent of the county total price support times the projected yield.

To participate, a farmer must divert a minimum of 20 percent of the base acreage. The maximum amount to be diverted is 50 percent of the base or 25 acres, whichever is larger. But the amount diverted may not exceed the base. The high diversion rate is 50 percent of the county price support times the

Local Men Attend Real Estate Meet

Two Jacksonville Men took part in installation ceremonies at the mid-winter meeting of the Illinois Association of Realtors held at Dolton, Illinois, in the Dorchester Inn last week.

John C. Watson, director, Department of Registration and Education, of Jacksonville served as installing officer for the state of officers which included Robert Steger of Steger, Ill., as president.

Vince Penza of Jacksonville was also installed as one of the state directors and was named chairman of the legislative committee for 1966.

All realtors in the state are licensed by Watson's department. Penza is a Jacksonville realtor.

A PATRIOT Of 1831

Through the kindness of Mrs. W. P. Spillman of Portland, Ore., the oldest known issue of a Jacksonville newspaper arrived at the Journal Courier office last week.

It was Vol. I, No. 9 of THE ILLINOIS PATRIOT, published Oct. 21, 1831, by James G. Edwards.

The microfilm file of the PATRIOT at the Jacksonville public library and the Illinois State Historical Library begins with the Oct. 27, 1832, issue.

The PATRIOT supported the Whig party, was strong for Henry Clay and cussed "Old Hickory" Jackson, holding him responsible for the ails and woes of the world.

In 1838 the PATRIOT was changed to the ILLINOIAN. The latter was renamed the MORGAN JOURNAL in 1843 and this was switched to the JACKSONVILLE JOURNAL in 1858.

In his history of Morgan county Rev. William F. Short wrote that the PATRIOT was probably started about Dec. 20, 1831. The copy sent by Mrs. Spillman proves conclusively that it was begun earlier, maybe in August, 1831.

The PATRIOT was well edited and well printed for a newspaper of that period. Edwards was a splendid printer and his wife was a skilled typesetter and distributor. Where the paper's office was is not stated, but it was probably on the second floor of the market place in the northeast corner of the public square.

At least that's where the ILLINOIAN was printed. It was a four page paper, five columns to the page. Edwards knew how to charge for a paper. The terms of subscription were $2.50 per year in advance; $3.00 if not paid for in three months, and $3.50 if not paid within the year. One must presume that those $3.50 accounts were pretty hard to collect.

Moved To Iowa Edwards left Jacksonville in 1838, and for a very good reason. His brother was elected secretary of state of Iowa and Edwards was named to the most lucrative post of state printer. He started the Burlington HAWKEYE, which was a profitable and influential sheet from the very beginning and is still doing very well with a circulation in excess of 20,000.

The old issue bears the name of the subscriber: Samuel Magill. In her letter to the JOURNAL Mrs. Spillman writes: "The paper has been in my possession over 55 years. I feel that it should be placed where it will be of educational value to some one."

"I never was privileged to know my grandfather Samuel Magill as he died in 1873. He was of Scotch-Irish descent. The Magills came to Morgan County from the State of Virginia in 1818. By 1821 'the Magill Homestead' was established on a farm six miles east of Jacksonville. The old house still stands, but has been remodeled. Grandfather Samuel Magill was a son of James Magill, who died in 1830. Samuel was born in 1808, married in 1836 to Elizabeth York, who also died in 1873."

"They were the parents of 12 children, of whom my mother, Nancy Margaret, was one. "I, with one cousin, Miss Clara Magill, are of the only survivors of this lineage, excepting of course a number of great and great-great grandchildren."

"Respectfully submitted by Mrs. W. P. Spillman, nee Abbie Magill Palmer Spillman."

The paper will be microfilmed and copies sent to the Illinois State Historical Library, Jacksonville public library, University of Illinois library and the Burlington HAWKEYE—all of whom will be grateful for Mrs. Spillman's gift.

The front page "leader" was copied from the Lynchburg, Va., JEFFERSONIAN, two and a half columns of fine print detailing Van Buren's alleged attempt to wreck the country. The other two and a half columns were devoted to an account of the life and times of Kosciuszko, the Polish patriot.

Page 2 led off with a lengthy account of the anti-Masonic convention held in Baltimore. This was copied from the New York Journal of Commerce.

An announcement was made that the Morgan County Bible society would hold a very important meeting "at the Presbyterian Meeting House on Monday evening, next, at half past 6 o'clock P.M. A Sermon and Addresses may be expected."

An item clipped from the official state paper, the Vandalia INTELLIGENCER, noted that the town of Galena was really on the boom. Provisions were high and the steamboat lines had jacked up the freight rate to 50 cents per hundred to St. Louis, but wages were also very high with laborers getting $20 a month and lead was selling for 15c a pound.

Page 2 also carried a long letter written "expressly" for the paper by a man who was a natural born Chamber of Commerce secretary. He said that Illinois was bound to be the banner state of the nation, since it was bordered by Lake Michigan, the Mississippi and the Ohio, bisected by the Illinois river and flanked by the Wabash. He pointed out the richness of the soil, the salubrious climate, the great variety of crops that could be raised, the grand prairies for livestock production made it truly the garden spot of the world.

Despite his enthusiasm he turned out to be pretty near right. Beardstown, Morgan County, Illinois.

Page 2 also carried the arrival and departure of steamboats at Beardstown. Morgan county, Illinois. Cass county was not established until six years later, after a lot of fussing and quibbling. This was followed by 20-30 years of fussing between Beardstown and Virginia as to where the county seat should be. In the end Virginia won, simply for the reason that Cass county was organized in the first place. Farmers wanted the county seat close enough so that they could do their morning chores, drive or ride in to attend to their business and get back home in time to do their evening chores. This was a pretty tough schedule for a man living in Ashland when the county seat was in Beardstown, so Virginia finally won out.

Beardstown was truly booming and Jacksonville was doing nearly all its business with Beardstown merchants, particularly the big mercantile house of Knapp & Pogue. These two men were alert and thrived, until they went busted along with everybody else in 1847.

In 1831 they had a steam flouring mill, a most unique one for it was built in one of the three Indian mounds that adorned the old Indian camping grounds when Mr. Beard showed up. These mounds were most unusual, conical in shape, built of loess soil carried in by the Missouri river bluffs. If they looked anything like a drawing found 60 years ago by Dr. J. F. Snyder of Virginia in the Archives of Paris they would attract thousands and thousands of visitors today had they been preserved. The mill ruined one of them and the other two were carried away to cover the sand upon which Beardstown was built.

A Thriving Port During the first week of October, 1831, Beardstown was visited by six boats. They were from Louisville and St. Louis. One of them, "the S. B. Charleston, Captain Thornburg, from Louisville, Ky., had 30 cabin and 100 deck passengers, heavily laden with merchandise for Messrs. Knapp & Pogue of Beardstown, J. Dunlap & Co. of Jacksonville and W. P. Grimsley of Springfield."

Four days later it was back from the "rapids" (Utica) and took on a cargo of 300 barrels of flour from K. & P., plus large quantities of hemp and potatoes.

This story is getting overlong. Sometime later we'll write about page 3 and 4 of the Oct. 21, 1831, issue of the PATRIOT. — Cecil Tendick

HUMORS

January, 1866 The celebrated speech of Sir Boyle Roche, "I see him floating in the air; but mark me! I shall yet nip him in the bud!" was evidently the model upon which a writer in a late Kansas paper remarks upon the result of a recent election. He says that "The fall of corruption has been dispelled, and the wheels of the State Government will no longer be trammelled by sharks that have beset the public prosperity like locusts."

"Can't we make your gentleman friend jealous, miss?" "Oh, yes, sir; I think we can, if we put our heads together."

A Western paper announces: "A cow was struck by lightning and instantly died, belonging to the village physician, who had a beautiful calf four days old."

According to another Western scribe: "The town has a school-house large enough to accommodate four hundred pupils four stories high."

From the Jacksonville Sentinel: CHANGE OF TIME — The trains on the Great Western R.R. now run as follows: Going east, 7:55 P.M. and 7:50 A.M. Going west, 11:44 P.M. and 9:09 A.M.

FARM FOR SALE — Daniel McAvoy advertises in another place, his farm, five miles south of Jacksonville, containing 200 acres, for sale. The portion in cultivation, he informs us, produced the past season 86 bushels of corn to the acre.

FAILURE — Our business community was astounded last week by the announcement of the failure of J. W. Lathrop, one of our most prominent dry goods merchants, formerly of the firm of Kibbe & Lathrop. It is understood that Mr. Lathrop's liabilities amount to between eighty and ninety thousand dollars. Messrs. Horace Bancroft, J. W. King and Samuel Metcalf are appointed assignees to settle up the business.

Dry goods merchants were the first casualties of the post Civil war depression. There was a very sharp decline in the price of woolen and cotton goods, particularly the latter, and many merchants went bankrupt. Those who had large inventories were especially vulnerable.

From the St. Louis Republican: S. S. Brooks, sr., died in Quincy on the 11th. He was one of the oldest printers and publishers in the west. He founded in Cincinnati the first daily paper ever issued west of the Allegheny mountains. More than forty years ago he established a paper in Edwardsville. Some years later he was identified with journalism in this city. At other periods he conducted newspapers in Jacksonville, Alton, Lewistown, Peoria and Cairo. For a time, also, he was connected with the Quincy Herald, of which his son, Austin Brooks, was for many years past proprietor. At the time of his death he was clerk of the Adams (Ill.) county court. During his career he bore a worthy and honorable part in moulding government and society in the western world.

Brooks ran the Jacksonville Standard, a strong Democratic weekly from 1838 through 1840. The paper had a good circulation, particularly in Scott county, where Stephen A. Douglas, solid subscriptions to practical every Democrat in the county. In later years Douglas asserted Brooks had much to do toward bringing him to the attention of the party and with his success in the political arena.

From the Carrollton Gazette: It is now a fixed fact we are to have a foundry and machine shop at no distant day.

We are reliably informed that William Batshelder, formerly a clerk in the store of Ornan Pierson, of this place, is to be the telegraph operator at the railroad depot.

We are not reliably informed who is to be the operator at Whitehall, but it is rumored that C. W. Allendorph is to have the situation.

Shipments of hogs from the place last week were: Wright, Eldred & Co., 700 head; Jordan Lakin, 350; Valentine & Co., 200; Hodgkins & Co., 160; Thomas & Bowman, 150. Total, 1,560.

Mr. Vedder, our gentlemanly station agent, informs us that from the 1st to 15th inst., the earnings of the St. Louis, Jacksonville and Chicago R.R., foot up over $2,000 for this station alone.

January, 1866 President Johnson's Message to the Congress met in France with the same favor it received in England. Its moderation was extolled.

The London TIMES, in an editorial on Mexican affairs, argues that Napoleon will peacefully withdraw sooner or later; and urges America, for the interests of all concerned, to quietly await the result, and abstain from inconsiderate expression on the subject.

Queen Victoria always sends a gift of three pounds to any mother in her dominions who may give birth to triplets. The latest successful candidate for the money is the wife of James Gibson, a weaver of Kilbarach, Scotland.

A new song announced in London is, "The Vanquished Banner, a song of the South." The music is by Sir Henry Stuart.

HOW TORONTO DID IT

As air transportation expands, each city grapples with the task of enlarging its airport. Toronto's facilities offer an example of an effort to push the debarking and embarking facilities out into the field and at the same time to increase the convenience for the public. Three functions of many older airport buildings have been split apart. Administrative offices are in a separate structure off the port. The control tower is a mile distant from the terminal, which retains only the function of accommodating the people who are using the planes or meeting them.

Toronto's air terminal is "in the round." All sides of it can be used because vehicles use a tunnel to approach it. Garage can handle 2,400 cars.

Three-legged control tower rises from a separate Y-shaped area control center, away from the main building.

Eskimo route markers, oldest road signs on this continent, add a decorative and appropriate note.

Fund For Victims Of Official Stupidities Growing Too Fast

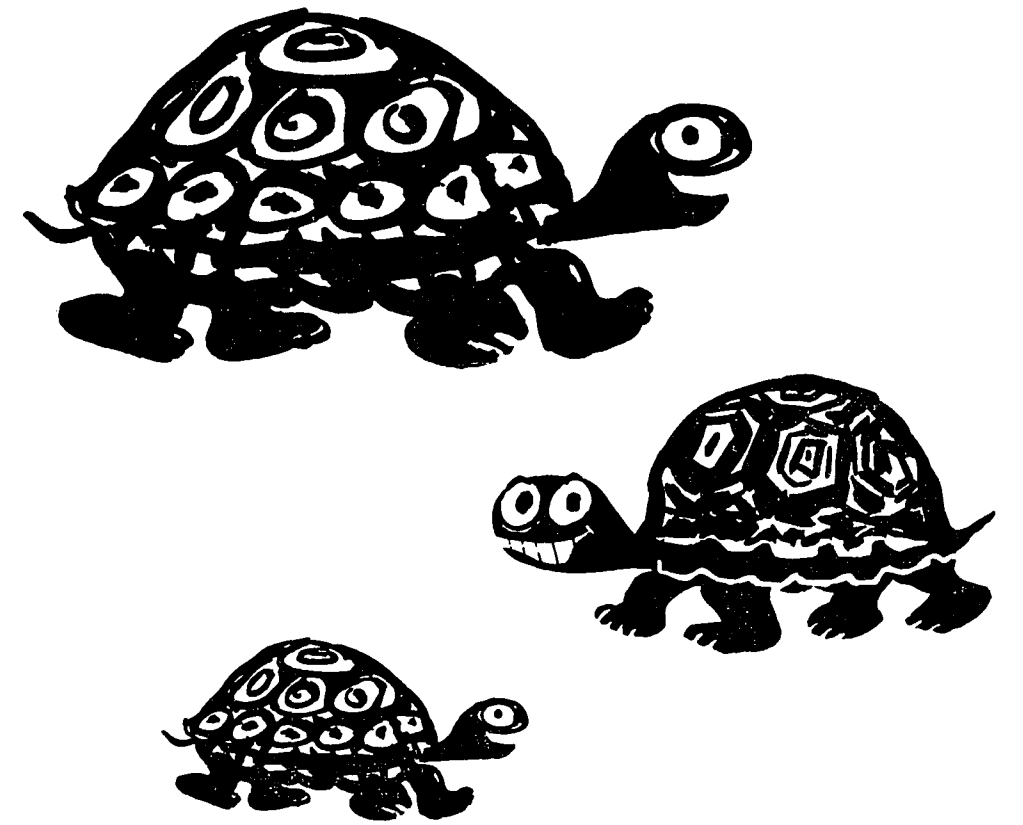

By JOHN F. DAFFRON
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The founder-director of the Beadle Bumble Fund — the modest trust which gives a helping hand to victims of official stupidities and the back of its hand to officials — issued a cease and desist plea today.
Stop sending money. The fund doesn't need it, thank you.
"It happens every time," said founder James Jackson Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News Leader. "We seek to alleviate some sordid situation and reduce the fund and what happens? More comes back than we send out."
Last week, Kilpatrick felt action by the fund was necessary when the school board in Hanover County ordered Harper Lee's novel "To Kill a Mockingbird" banned from high school libraries. Immoral literature, said the board.
Kilpatrick called the school board action "an asinine performance" in line with the quote from Charles Dickens' "Beadle Bumble." In the book "Oliver Twist," Mr. Bumble called the law "an ass... an idiot" if the law supposed a wife acted under the direction of her husband.
The fund immediately offered to send to the first 50 Hanover High School pupils who requested a free paperback copy of "Mockingbird." Thus far, the fund has sent 63 copies to the News Leader.
"We spent $45 for books and about $15 in postage," Kilpatrick said. "Thus far we've received $74.50 — mostly from Virginia but also from Nebraska, Georgia, Illinois.
"We want to keep the fund low — we're pretty solvent, but we're already $14.50 ahead."
The fund was launched in 1959. Its first benefice was picking up the fine of a Richmonder who strolled across the hood of an automobile which blocked an intersection while the driver chatted with a friend. The talking driver was an off-duty policeman.
Last week was the fund's first anniversary of its first application outside of Virginia.
On Jan. 13, 1965, the fund sent $100 to Ivan L. Rudnytsky, a professor at La Salle College in Philadelphia. The money was to help pay legal fees. The professor asked a lady on a bus to tone down her transistor radio. She refused and he grabbed it and bopped her with it. A grand jury refused to indict Rudnytsky.

Proof Still To Come

Russ Pudding Bubbles With Big Possibilities

An AP News Analysis
By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The Russians have been cooking up a spicy diplomatic pudding. It bubbles with possibilities, but the proof of that pudding is still to come.

Aggressive Kremlin diplomacy, seems centered on removing threats to peace on the Soviet doorstep in Asia.

Success or failure may depend upon establishing dominant influence in North Viet Nam. If a current Soviet mission to Hanoi should be rebuffed, there would be little hope of anything but continued war in Indochina and tense Soviet-American relations—which at the moment may not be in the national interests of either great power.

A look at recent Soviet activity suggests an atmosphere of urgency on the part of the Soviet party and government chiefs, as if they might be laying their own leadership on the line.

From more than just a propaganda standpoint, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin scored a coup at Tashkent, where he persuaded the Indians and Pakistanis at least to talk about peaceful negotiations. President Johnson welcomed the result, but it is likely to enrage the Red Chinese.

The Russians have battered their way into the Viet Nam situation with a high-powered delegation whose aim, many qualified observers agree, is to outbid Peking for the loyalty of the Hanoi regime.

The Russians have sent a first team, headed by party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, to Mongolia. The meaning will not be lost upon the Red Chinese, who have been contesting with Moscow for influence in that Communist buffer between the U.S.S.R. and China.

The Russians appear to have clashed head-on with the Chinese in Cuba and to have won the upper hand at the so-called tricontinental anti-imperialist conference there. The Chinese already have made a public display of their anger.

All this provokes speculation that the present Soviet leadership has little expectation of reconciliation with Peking and now is trying to lessen the dangers that Chinese policies may pose for Soviet interests.

This would not mean that Moscow has lost interest in fomenting revolution around the world. But it could mean that the Kremlin wants to be careful lest national interests be endangered in the process.

The biggest hurdles may still be ahead for Soviet diplomacy. The North Vietnamese regime has appeared to be dominated by pro-Chinese elements. Should Soviet influence be rebuffed, the Kremlin would be powerless to create a climate in which the Viet Nam war might be brought to a conference table.

Even should the Soviet thrust in Hanoi be successful, there are other problems. Soviet diplomacy in Asia is tied to Europe. The Russians are unlikely to want to make things easier for Uncle Sam without reciprocity on the West German question. This shines through Soviet pronouncements.

Lions' Size Spells 61-58 Crimson Loss

SPRINGFIELD — Lanphier's superior size told the final story here Friday night, as the taller Lions led from the second quarter on in nipping the Jacksonville Crimson, 61-58, in a Capital Conference meeting.

Although the Lions, averaging about three inches taller per man, led from early in the second quarter on, Jacksonville was never out of the game, drawing within one as late as the final eight minutes.

Lanphier, which hit hot streaks throughout the contest to spurt in front by as much as eight points, got the buckets when they needed them to stay on top, and got the big rebounds at crucial points.

The final difference turned out to be the scoring and rebounding of 6-7 center Ken Jacobs and 6-5 forward John Johnson. The two combined for a total of 39 points and pulled down a big share of the rebounds.

Jacksonville's Ron Coleman, turning in another excellent scoring and rebounding effort, kept the Crimson in the game most of the way, ending up with 25 points for the evening.

The loss drops Jacksonville to 8-5 for the season, and moves the Crimson out of a tie for the conference lead with loss number two to go with two wins. Lanphier is now 6-6 overall and 2-1 in the league.

First Quarter Close
The first quarter of the game turned into a nip and tuck affair, with the lead changing hands seven times and the contest being tied on three occasions.

Abe Brown threw in five points in the period and Rich Coble the first four to pace the Crimson. Lanphier's Dick Ramsey tossed in a bucket with 20 seconds left in the frame to knot the count at 16-16 at the close of the quarter.

After Lanphier scored the first four points of the second round, Gary Ginder's two tip-in

'DoshRumps Past Tigers By 67-27

MEREDOSIA — Complete domination of the offensive and defensive boards vaulted the Meredosians into the winners circle here Friday night as they maneuvered a 67-27 onslaught of the ISD Tigers in PMSC conference play.

Nine men, headed by Tim Surratt and Ron Chambers with 10 each, placed in the scoring column for the locals, while only four of the ISD contenders found the range.

The locals moved out to an early margin to gain a 15-7 spread after the first stop. Gaining their only momentum of the night, ISD kept the spread at from eight-to-ten points throughout the second frame, only to have the roof fall in after the intermission.

Meredosia held the halftime advantage by a 31-20 bulge, but soon found the going easy as the Tigers folded to a two point output during the frame, and only a seven point total for the half.

The win pushed the Indians over the 500 mark to a 5-4 status, while ISD now stands 1-7 on the year.

Greer And Martin Spark 91-83 IC Win

Grabbing an early lead, the IC Blueboys stayed ahead all the way to down Greenville 91-83 in a conference tilt Friday night, sparked by the high-scoring play of Charles Martin and Max Greer.

Led throughout the first half by the rebounding and shooting of forwards Martin and Dick Cough and captain Greer, the Blueboys took a 48-37 lead to the locker room at halftime.

With the Panthers up 4-2 with four minutes gone in the first half, IC center Paul Runkle hit one from the charity stripe, and Martin drove in for one field goal for a second to give the Blueboys a lead they never lost.

Senior guard Greer scored on a fast break, Martin got a two point tip-in, and Paul Runkle hit one more from the free throw line. Forward Jim Parsons scored for the Panthers, and Martin came back with a field goal for the big Blue, giving them a 15-6 lead.

IC, coming out with a man-to-man defense in the first half used a 1-3-1 offense against the Panthers 1-2-2 zone defense. The Panthers used a three-man weaving offense throughout most of the first half, having trouble breaking men open under the basket against the taller Blueboys.

Panthers Get Close
With 10:30 gone in the second half, Greenville went into a man-to-man press and grabbed off two quick Blueboy passes and caused a traveling violation to narrow the gap again.

IC, up 72-66 with nine minutes to go, put the game on ice on the strength of a five-foot jumper by freshman Ted Pardo and a tip in by Greer.

Cough, on the bench most of the second half, with four fouls came into the game with 6:50 to go and hit on both sides of a one and one free throw to put the game safely away.

Although the Panthers outrebounded IC, the tough Blueboys defense caused 24 costly turnovers, many coming on crucial plays.

IC was led by Greer with 26 points on 12 field goals and two free throws while Martin contributed 19 and Cough 17 to the Blueboys' cause.

Forwards Jim Parsons and Dave Altopp topped the Panthers with 22 and 19 respectively.

Illinois College hit on 39% of its field goal attempts on their way to gaining their fourth win of the season against five losses. Greenville hit at a 32% clip and is 5-5 for the campaign.

Greenville, last year's Prairie College Conference champions, is now 0-2 in conference play. Illinois College is 2-0 in conference play and hit on a jumper.

Before fouling out three minutes later, Cough hit on two free throws while Pardo and Runkle hit on field goals and once play with wins over Greenville and Rose Poly.
